British Force Tries To Stem Irish Violence

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British commandos landed in Northern Ireland today to reinforce 3,000 troops trying to stem a new wave of firebombings and street battles between Roman Catholics and Protestants.

One hundred Royal Marine Commandos—part of a force cited during the Korean war for fighting its way to a surrounded U.S. Marine unit—arrived from their base in England shortly after midnight. Another 500 were due later today.

Belfast streets, still littered from weekend fighting in which 10 persons were injured, blazed anew with firebombs that set a bus and store alight. The Royal Ulster Constabulary arrested two men in connection with the arson.

A British army spokesman said: "The whole area is bubbling with tension."

Catholic districts in Belfast, where street barricades came down earlier this month after army guarantees of safety, were blocked again following the weekend violence. Residents threw up at least two dozen barricades.

On Sunday night, mobs hurled rocks and bottles at British soldiers setting up roadblocks. Troops fired tear gas to clear the crowd.

British troops armed with rifles and gas masks used gas to clear mobs from streets near the city center and uncoiled more rolls of barbed wire to fence off the trouble districts.

Lt. Gen. Sir Ian Freeland, commander of British forces in Northern Ireland issued an appeal for calm and said he called in the reinforcements to relieve overworked soldiers in Belfast and Londonderry.

The 41st Commando Royal Marines gained an American presidential citation in 1950 when they fought through 80 miles of enemy-held territory in Korea to aid a surrounded detachment of U.S. Marines.

Seek To Free Green Berets

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Attorney Henry Rothblatt said today he will go into federal court here to seek the release of three of six Green Beret officers accused of murdering a reported Vietnamese double agent.

Rothblatt said that if the court rejects his request, he will ask for a hearing to show they cannot be tried fairly in a military court.

Rothblatt said he wants the case transferred to the United States, away from the "political and military atmosphere" of Vietnam.

Rothblatt said after returning from Vietnam that he will seek freedom for Maj. David E. Crew, 33; Capt. Leland J. Brumley, 27; and Capt. Robert F. Marasco, 27, accused in the death of Thai Khac Chueyen, said to have been spying for both the Americans and the North Vietnamese.

Joining Rothblatt in the legal action here is J. W. "Jake" Ehrlich, widely known San Francisco criminal lawyer who once successfully defended drummer Gene Krupa in a marijuana case. Ehrlich said he would help plan litigation for Rothblatt, a New York lawyer who has represented the defense in more than 1,000 murder cases.

Billy Graham Draws Crowd

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — A new attendance record was set at Anaheim Stadium Sunday by evangelist Billy Graham.

A crowd of 49,500 overflowed the seating area on to the field to hear Graham in the third day of his 10-day Southern California crusade.

The previous attendance high of 46,500 at the home of the California Angels was set during the All-Star game in 1967. The stadium has 42,500 seats.

Police To Return 2 Brandt Plans To Oust Kiesinger, Take Over

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police here flew to New Mexico Sunday night to bring back one of two suspects wanted in connection with the robbery of a savings and loan firm and the murder of four women.

John Leigh, 20, has waived extradition to Ohio to face four first degree murder charges. Watterson Johnson, 22, asked for a lawyer.

The pair were arrested early Sunday morning sleeping in a car near Gallup, N.M., by a state policeman.

They said they were hitchhiking with the driver, David

Earl Randall, who met them in Memphis, Tenn., police said.

The pair were given a hearing before a U.S. commissioner in Gallup who fixed their bonds at $500,000 each. They were charged with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Police Chief Howard Makin, of suburban Delhi Township where the killings occurred, Sgt. Russell Jackson, head of the Cincinnati police homicide squad and Sgt. Harry Bode, Hamilton county police, flew to Albuquerque and drove to Gallup.

Two other suspects were in Hamilton county jail awaiting grand jury action on murder warrants in the case. They are Raymond Kassow, 24, and Carl Ingle, 31. All of the suspects lived in Cincinnati.

The slayings took place Sept. 24 in the office of the Cabinet Supreme Saving & Loan Co. in which $275 was taken.

Four women, a teller and three customers, were shot to death in the bank's vault.

The victims were Mrs. Lillian DeWald, 41, the employee, and Mrs. Luella and Henrietta Stitzel, and Mrs. Helen Huebner.

Apollo 11 Astronauts Start 22-Nation Good Will Tour

HOUSTON (AP) — The three Americans who went "in peace for all mankind" to the moon embark today on a world tour to promote good will on earth.

Bearing personal greetings to foreign heads of state from President Nixon, Apollo 11 astronauts Neil Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins are scheduled to visit 22 nations in 38 days.

They will present to each country a replica of the moon landing plaque bearing the inscription "We came in peace for all mankind" and signed by each astronaut and the President.

The astronauts, scheduled to leave Houston today for the first stop in Mexico City, will be accompanied by their wives.

The three are the first astronauts to undertake a world tour in behalf of the United States and the first three-man American space team to go abroad.

Their itinerary does not—with the exception of Yugoslavia—take them to Communist controlled nations or to the warring countries of the Middle East, although they have scheduled stops in Iran and Turkey.

Col. Frank Borman, commander of the Apollo 8 lunar mission, visited the Soviet Union this spring, prior to the Apollo 11 moon shot.

In addition to replicas of the moon landing plaque, the astronauts will present heads of state with metal discs bearing messages—each reduced to the size of a pinhead—from 73 nations wishing the Apollo 11 mission success. The Original also was left on the moon.

No samples of lunar material gathered by Armstrong and Aldrin will be taken on the trip, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said.

Nixon telephoned Armstrong at his Seabrook, Tex., home Sunday to wish him and the others luck on the trip. The President invited the astronauts and their wives to dinner at the White House on the day they returned home, Nov. 5.

From Mexico City they will go to Bogota, Colombia; Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, in South America before flying to the Canary Islands Oct. 4.

In western Europe they have stops in Madrid, Paris, Amsterdam, Brussels, Oslo, Cologne, Berlin, London and Rome. After visiting Belgrade Oct. 18-19 they go to Ankara, Turkey; Kinshasa, The Congo, and Tehran, Iran. Asian and Pacific stops are Bombay, India; Dacca, Pakistan; Bangkok, Thailand; Gum, Seoul, and Tokyo. They will stop at Honolulu enroute to Houston.

Discord Still Marks Plans To Remodel U.S. Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most congressmen agree something must be done about the historic but crumbling sandstone walls on the west front of the United States Capitol, but there is a sharp disagreement over the proper solution.

At stake is survival of the last remaining exterior work by early American artisans who built the Capitol.

The Senate is considering a House-passed measure to provide planning money for a massive extension of the Capitol building—construction that would bury the walls.

Approval of the planning funds would virtually assure extension.

The central west facade would be extended up to 88 feet, creating 4½ acres of new space for restaurants, toilets, visitor centers, meeting rooms and numerous private offices for congressmen.

Sen. Stephen Young, D-Ohio, has accused the expansion proponents, led by House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., and Capitol Architect J. George Stewart, of trying to "make the Capitol into a king-sized Howard Johnson's."

The original capitol was designed by William Thornton a Virgin Island-born Philadelphian.

Resume Tingler Jury Selection

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Selection of a jury in the first degree murder trial of Richard Tingler, 25, resumed today in Franklin County Common Pleas Court.

Tingler is on trial for the slaying of two teenagers during a holdup at a Lawson Milk store here last Oct. 20. He is also charged with the bearing robbery of the night store manager.

Eleven jurors had tentatively been seated as the trial entered its second week. The state has four peremptory challenges left and the defense has six. The challenges can be used to dismiss any prospective juror without giving a reason.

All but two of the fatal accidents occurred in northern and central Ohio.

To Hear Reports On New Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon pledged today that the United States will do its part to help solve the world's trade and finance problems, "including dealing with the inflation which for too long has drained the vitality of this country."

Nixon's message was delivered by Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy at the opening session of the annual meeting of four major international financial and development organizations.

He said the four—the World Bank, the International Development Association, the International Finance Corporation and the International Monetary Fund—were "examples to all of international cooperation in action."

His three major tasks, he said, were to restore the stability of price levels, to attack obstacles to international development, and to assure the financial framework for international trade and investments.

Liberal Senate Food Stamp Plan Faces House Trimming

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers and critics of a liberalized national food stamp program, successful last week in the Senate, rate its chances for passage by the House at less than even.

"It's a long shot," said Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash. "I think we will pass something much less far-reaching."

A major stumbling block is to which the Senate-passed measure first must go.

"I'd be tremendously surprised if our committee approved that type of legislation. In fact, it would astound me," said Chairman W. R. Poage, D-Tex., an opponent of the Senate program.

The version approved by the Senate exceeds by more than $2 billion the amount proposed by President Nixon for food stamps over the next three years. It also would provide free stamps to families whose incomes fall under $69 a month.

Food stamps now are purchased by low income families who redeem them for more food than they could buy with cash. The government makes up the difference.

Senate passage came after Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., bypassed the Senate Agriculture Committee and brought the bill directly to the floor.

Foley has introduced a bill similar to McGovern's and said he, too, hopes to push it on the floor. He said the Senate action puts pressure on the House to pass at least some of the liberalized program.

The Senate version authorizes spending $1.25 billion for food stamps in this fiscal year, $2 billion next year and $2.5 billion in fiscal 1972.

President Nixon recommended increasing the current amount—$340 million—to $610 million this year and $1.5 billion in fiscal 1971 and 1972.

West Germans Boost Social Democrats

BONN (AP) — Foreign Minister Willy Brandt, whose Social Democrats showed the only gains in West Germany's federal elections Sunday, notified its parliament today he will try to form a new coalition government and seek election as chancellor.

Brandt issued a statement saying: "Taking into account the results of the Bundestag election, in connection with the particularly controversial questions of the election campaign, I intend to seek the approval of the majority of the Bundestag for my election as federal chancellor."

At the same time, the Social Democrats notified federal President Gustav Heinemann they would try to form a coalition government with the small Free Democratic party, breaking their present alliance with Chancellor Kurt George Kiesinger's Christian Democrats.

If they are successful and Brandt succeeds Kiesinger, it would be the first German government in 39 years to be headed by the Social Democratic party.

The Social Democratic party (SDP) won 42.7 per cent of the vote—a gain of 3.4 per cent since the 1965 elections. The Christian Democrats (CDU) won 46.1 per cent—a loss of 1.5 per cent and not enough for them to rule alone.

The biggest loser was Walter Scheel's Free Democratic party (FDP), which captured 5.8 per cent of the vote compared to 9.5 per cent in the last elections.

The Free Democrats now have 30 seats in the 496-seat Bundestag or lower house of the parliament. If Scheel agrees to form a coalition with Brandt, the two parties could outvote the Christian Democrats 254 to 242 in the Bundestag. It chooses the next chancellor.

Brandt said, "The Christian Democrats did not win but lost... a coalition between the Christian Democrats and the F. Democrats would be a coalition of losers. This would not (Continued on Page 2)

Find Child Kidnaped And Sold

NEW YORK (AP) — A 3-year-old girl allegedly kidnaped here Thursday and "sold" to a South Carolina woman was carried sleeping from a plane at Kennedy Airport this morning and awakened by her mother's kisses.

"That's mama! That's mama!" little Tondalayo Jones cried as Mrs. Helena Jones took her from the arms of an FBI agent and hugged her.

The FBI said the girl apparently was unharmed, but her golden hair had been dyed black by her abductors.

Two Harlem women—Constance Dezonie, 39, and Pauline Coleman, 57—were held for arraignment today on charges of violating the federal kidnap statute. Conviction could bring a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

The FBI said both women knew the child's mother.

New York City police said they had received a tip that Tondalayo was taken to Charleston, where FBI agents found her Sunday at the home of William Jones, "a respected dentist," and his wife Iry, "a minister." The Joneses are said related to the child, police said.

Agents said Tondalayo had been "well cared for" at the couple's home.

Patrol said Durham was driving the wrong direction.

British Force Tries To Stem Irish Violence

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British commandos landed in Northern Ireland today to reinforce 3,000 troops trying to stem a new wave of firebombings and street battles between Roman Catholics and Protestants.

One hundred Royal Marine Commandos—part of a force cited during the Korean war for fighting its way to a surrounded U.S. Marine unit—arrived from their base in England shortly after midnight. Another 500 were due later today.

Belfast streets, still littered from weekend fighting in which 10 persons were injured, blazed anew with firebombs that set a bus and store alight. The Royal Ulster Constabulary arrested two men in connection with the arson.

A British army spokesman said: "The whole area is bubbling with tension."

Catholic districts in Belfast, where street barricades came down earlier this month after army guarantees of safety, were blocked again following the weekend violence. Residents threw up at least two dozen barricades.

On Sunday night, mobs hurled rocks and bottles at British soldiers setting up roadblocks. Troops fired tear gas to clear the crowd.

British troops armed with rifles and gas masks used gas to clear mobs from streets near the city center and uncoiled more rolls of barbed wire to fence off the trouble districts.

Seek To Free Green Berets

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Attorney Henry Rothblatt said today he will go into federal court here to seek the release of three of six Green Beret officers accused of murdering a reported Vietnamese double agent.

Rothblatt said that if the court rejects his request, he will ask for a hearing to show they cannot be tried fairly in a military court.

Rothblatt said he wants the case transferred to the United States, away from the "political and military atmosphere" of Vietnam.

Rothblatt said after returning from Vietnam that he will seek freedom for Maj. David E. Crew, 33; Capt. Leland J. Brumley, 27, and Capt. Robert F. Marasco, 27, accused in the death of Thai Khac Chueyen, said to have been spying for both the Americans and the North Vietnamese.

Joining Rothblatt in the legal action here is J. W. "Jake" Ehrlich, widely known San Francisco criminal lawyer who once successfully defended drummer Gene Krupa in a marijuana case. Ehrlich said he would help plan litigation for Rothblatt, a New York lawyer who has represented the defense in more than 1,000 murder cases.

West Germans Boost Social Democrats

BONN (AP) — Foreign Minister Willy Brandt, whose Social Democrats showed the only gains in West Germany's federal elections Sunday, notified its parliament today he will try to form a new coalition government and seek election as chancellor.

Brandt issued a statement saying: "Taking into account the results of the Bundesag election, in connection with the particularly controversial questions of the election campaign, I intend to seek the approval of the majority of the Bundestag for my election as federal chancellor."

At the same time, the Social Democrats notified federal President Gustav Heinemann they would try to form a coalition government with the small Free Democratic party, breaking their present alliance with Chancellor Kurt George Kiesinger's Christian Democrats.

If they are successful and Brandt succeeds Kiesinger, it would be the first German government in 39 years to be headed by the Social Democratic party.

The Social Democratic party (SDP) won 42.7 per cent of the vote—a gain of 3.4 per cent since the 1965 elections. The Christian Democrats (CDU) won 46.1 per cent—a loss of 1.5 per cent and not enough for them to rule alone.

The biggest loser was Walter Scheel's Free Democratic party (FDP), which captured 5.8 per cent of the vote compared to 9.5 per cent in the last elections.

The Free Democrats now have 30 seats in the 496-seat Bundestag or lower house of the parliament. If Scheel agrees to form a coalition with Brandt, the two parties could outvote the Christian Democrats 254 to 242 in the Bundestag. It chooses the next chancellor.

Brandt said, "The Christian Democrats did not win but lost a coalition between the Christian Democrats and the Free Democrats would be a coalition of losers. This would not

Liberal Senate Food Stamp Plan Faces House Trimming

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers and critics of a liberalized national food stamp program, successful last week in the Senate, rate its chances for passage by the House at less than even.

"It's a long shot," said Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash. "I think we will pass something much less far-reaching."

A major stumbling block is the House Agriculture Committee, to which the Senate-passed measure first must go.

"I'd be tremendously surprised if our committee approved that type of legislation. In fact, it would astound me," said Chairman W. R. Poage, D-Tex., an opponent of the Senate program.

The version approved by the Senate exceeds by more than $2 billion the amount proposed by President Nixon for food stamps over the next three years. It also would provide free stamps to families whose incomes fall under $60 a month.

Food stamps now are purchased by low income families who redeem them for more food than they could buy with cash. The government makes up the difference.

Senate passage came after Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., bypassed the Senate Agriculture Committee and brought the bill directly to the floor.

Foley has introduced a bill similar to McGovern's and said he, too, hopes to push it on the floor. He said the Senate action puts pressure on the House to pass at least some of the liberalized program.

The Senate version authorizes spending $1.25 billion for food stamps in this fiscal year, $2 billion next year and $2.5 billion in fiscal 1972.

President Nixon recommended increasing the current amount—$340 million—to $610 million this year and $1.5 billion in fiscal 1971 and 1972.

Chataqua Park Hit By Blaze

FRANKLIN, Ohio (AP) — The Chataqua Baptist Park, north of here, was hit by fire yesterday for the second time in less than a week.

The latest fire destroyed the park office and maintenance building and damaged two other buildings.

There was no immediate estimate of the loss.

A series of fires last Thursday destroyed a large dining room and damaged several other buildings. The 100-year-old park is closed for the winter.

State fire marshal's representatives came here to investigate Sunday's blaze.

In the Thursday fire, Miami township Fire Chief Houston Beals said vandals, using kitchen matches, started fires every few feet around the buildings.

Three Injured In Accident

The Highway Patrol investigated an injury accident at 3:20 p.m. Sunday on Route 23, one mile south of the Franklin-Pickaway county line.

Pearl E. Montgomery, 72, of Chillicothe, pulled from a rest area onto 23. Margaret E. Michael, 54, northbound on 23, said she did not at first notice Montgomery's auto. When she did, she took her foot from the accelerator, but it stuck, so she veered to the left and applied her brakes, striking the other car in the left rear.

Montgomery, Michael and a passenger in her car, Francis Margaret DeBrosse, also of Columbus, were taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital for various injuries.

Firemen Handle Two Calls Over Weekend

Czech Reds Start Sweeping Purges Of Party Liberals

PRAGUE (AP) — A weekend purge that swept reformer Alexander Dubcek and his supporters from Communist party and government leadership spread today throughout Czechoslovakia.

Reports reached Prague of new regional shakeups from eastern Slovakia to northwest Bohemia in the Communist party and in the National Front, which controls organizations outside the party.

Czechoslovakia's Communist bosses, toying the pro-Soviet line, had promised a sweeping party shakeup of "social organizations, state and economic apparatus, science and culture" in announcing the purges Sunday.

President Ludvik Svoboda said a new government would be announced today. Nine cabinet members were thrown out or had their jobs abolished.

Dubcek, 47, the former Communist party boss and still very popular, was ousted from the ruling Presidium and removed as president of the National Assembly. But he retained his seat on the party's Central Committee.

Josef Smrkovsky, one of Dubcek's closest aides in the 1968 reform era from January until the Aug. 22 Soviet invasion, was removed as vice president of the National Assembly.

A purge list showed that 29 men who backed Dubcek while he ran the country have left the Central Committee.

The Czechoslovak news agency CTK said party chief Gustav Husak told a plenary meeting of the Central Committee last Thursday that new membership cards will be issued and that a future plenary session will deal with such a proposal.

Husak said, according to CTK, that the card replacement would not only be "a formal act" but would rid the party of rank-and-file members "who are unable to get rid of views hostile to our teachings." He said every member's attitude regarding political views, work and character would be assessed.

Smrkovsky and former Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek were among nine men expelled from the Central Committee—three of them being thrown out of the party itself. Nineteen other liberal members resigned under pressure. The 29th to leave was Planning Minister Frantisek Vlasak, who was expelled as an alternate member.

Demos Push Harrington In Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, by tape recording, and Hubert H. Humphrey, in person, are plugging for the election of a Massachusetts Democrat to fill a long-Republican House seat in a special election Tuesday.

Both Republicans and Democrats have sent political organizers and tacticians to the Sixth Congressional District, north of Boston.

Michael J. Harrington, 33, a Democratic state representative, is matched against William L. Saltonstall, 42, a Republican state senator who is the son of former U.S. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall.

Democrats are bidding to pick up a third traditionally Republican House seat to go with those they captured in special elections in Wisconsin and Montana earlier this year.

The contest is for the seat left vacant by the death of Rep. William H. Bates.

Although registered Democrats now outnumber Republicans in the district, it has never sent a Democrat to Congress. There are more independents than members of either party.

Gas Stolen From Bus

An estimated 15 gallons of gasoline was stolen from a school bus at Logan Elm High School during the weekend.

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department is investigating the theft, discovered early today by Charles Barnhart, custodian at the school. An apparent attempt had also been made to get gasoline from an electrically operated pump at the rear of the school.

Millersburg Hosts Antique Festival

Millersburg, in Holmes County, will host the annual Holmes County Antique Festival October 4 and 5.

Located in the heart of Amish country, storefront windows in the city will display private collections of antiques for festival goers. In addition, some 50 antique dealers will form one of the largest antique show and market displays in the state at the local school building.

The weekend of events is spotlighted by a Fireman's parade Saturday night and the Antique Parade Sunday afternoon.

Community organizations provide lawn festivals in addition to the Holmes County specialty food items, trail bologna and swiss cheese, which will be sold by the bulk and by the sandwich.

Local talent will provide continuous entertainment as members of the older generation reminisce about the days of yesteryear and the young set finds a revelation in the items used in grandma and grandpa's day.

Judge Sentences Two For Forgery

Gary L. Sopher, Columbus, was sentenced to Mansfield Reformatory for a period of one to 20 years by Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer Saturday.

Sopher had been placed on three years probation May of this year by Judge Ammer for forgery. Arrested by Columbus police for forgery last week, Sopher was returned here to be sentenced for violation of probation.

Also sentenced for forgery was Roy William Mumaw of Circleville. He was indicted by the April session of the Pickaway County Grand Jury. Judge Ammer sentenced Mumaw to the Ohio Penitentiary for one to 20 years. Another indictment for forgery was nolle by the judge.

The Niagara Frontier State Park Commission has grown since 1954 from seven parks with 2,990 acres to 14 parks with 4,884 acres.

City Police Investigate 2 Accidents

Circleville Police investigated two injury accidents Saturday.

At 4:08 p.m. Saturday, three cars were involved in a collision on the Lancaster Pike at Pontious Road. Charles Brackett, 43, 690 Garden Parkway, had stopped for a car that was turning left. Ralph Hoffmann, 35, 731 Renick Ave., struck a car driven by Myra Carter, 21, 111 Highland Ave., in the rear, knocking it into Brackett's car.

Miss Carter was treated at Berger Hospital for chest, leg and abdomen injuries.

At 5:40 p.m. Michael Funk, 17, 947 Circle Drive, pulled onto Northridge Road into the path of a car driven by Ruby Wise, 42, 510 Ridgewood Drive. Mrs. Wise sustained injuries to her arm and shoulder and was referred by city police to her family physician for treatment.

B&O Rail Overpass Collapses

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A Baltimore Ohio Railroad overpass collapsed onto Fasset Street in East Toledo early today.

No one was injured in the accident.

Officials said the overpass was demolished and morning traffic was tied up because vehicles using the street, a heavily traveled artery into downtown Toledo, had to be detoured.

Several freight cars overturned and one fell to the street. Railroad officials said the accident happened when structural steel on a freight car struck the overpass, ripping it loose.

Railroad crews were sent to the scene to clean up the wreckage and the city set up barricades to reroute traffic.

There was no official estimate of damage, but railroad officials indicated it might be as high as $250,000. Reconstruction of the overpass is expected to take several months.

A series of fires last Thursday destroyed a large dining room and damaged several other buildings. The 100-year-old park is closed for the winter.

State fire marshal's representatives came here to investigate Sunday's blaze.

In the Thursday fire, Miami township Fire Chief Houston Beals said vandals, using kitchen matches, started fires every few feet around the buildings.

Three Injured In Accident

The Highway Patrol investigated an injury accident at 3:20 p.m. Sunday on Route 23, one mile south of the Franklin-Pickaway county line.

Pearl E. Montgomery, 72, of Chillicothe, pulled from a rest area onto 23. Margaret E. Michael, 54, northbound on 23, said she did not at first notice Montgomery's auto. When she did, she took her foot from the accelerator, but it stuck, so she veered to the left and applied her brakes, striking the other car in the left rear.

Montgomery, Michael and a passenger in her car, Francis Margaret DeBrosse, also of Columbus, were taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital for various injuries.

Firemen Handle Two Calls Over Weekend

The Circleville Fire Department handled two fires over the weekend.

At 12:41 p.m. Saturday, the firemen were called to the rear of Eshleman's Mill, where a large pile of old paper bags had caught fire.

On Sunday, they answered a call to 106 Park St., where Frank Barnhill Jr. had been burning leaves along the curb close to an automobile.

There was no damage estimate for either fire.

Czech Reds Start Sweeping Purges Of Party Liberals

PRAGUE (AP) — A weekend purge that swept reformer Alexander Dubcek and his supporters from Communist party and government leadership spread today throughout Czechoslovakia.

Reports reached Prague of new regional shakeups from eastern Slovakia to northwestern Bohemia in the Communist party and in the National Front, which controls organizations outside the party.

Czechoslovakia's Communist bosses, toeing the pro-Soviet line, had promised a sweeping party shakeup of "social organizations, state and economic apparatus, science and culture" in announcing the purges Sunday.

President Ludvik Svoboda said a new government would be announced today. Nine cabinet members were thrown out or had their jobs abolished.

Dubcek, 47, the former Communist party boss and still very popular, was ousted from the ruling Presidium and removed as president of the National Assembly. But he retained his seat on the party's Central Committee.

Josef Smrkovsky, one of Dubcek's closest aides in the 1968 reform era from January until the Aug. 22 Soviet invasion, was removed as vice president of the National Assembly.

A purge list showed that 29 men who backed Dubcek while he ran the country have left the Central Committee.

The Czechoslovak news agency CTK said party chief Gustav Husak told a plenary meeting of the Central Committee last Thursday that new membership cards will be issued and that a future plenary session will deal with such a proposal.

Husak said, according to CTK, that the card replacement would not only be "a formal act" but would rid the party of rank-and-file members "who are unable to get rid of views hostile to our teachings." He said every member's attitude regarding political views, work and character would be assessed.

Smrkovsky and former Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek were among nine men expelled from the Central Committee—three of them being thrown out of the party itself. Nineteen other liberal members resigned under pressure. The 29th to leave was Planning Minister Frantisek Vlasak, who was expelled as an alternate member.

Demos Push Harrington In Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, by tape recording, and Hubert H. Humphrey, in person, are plugging for the election of a Massachusetts Democrat to fill a long-Republican House seat in a special election Tuesday.

Both Republicans and Democrats have sent political organizers and tacticians to the Sixth Congressional District, north of Boston.

Michael J. Harrington, 32, a Democratic state representative, is matched against William L. Saltonstall, 42, a Republican state senator who is the son of former U.S. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall.

Democrats are bidding to pick up a third traditionally Republican House seat to go with those they captured in special elections in Wisconsin and Montana earlier this year.

The contest is for the seat left vacant by the death of Rep. William H. Bates.

Although registered Democrats now outnumber Republicans in the district, it has never sent a Democrat to Congress. There are more independents than members of either party.

Gas Stolen From Bus

An estimated 15 gallons of gasoline was stolen from a school bus at Logan Elm High School during the weekend.

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department is investigating the theft, discovered early today by Charles Barnhart, custodian at the school. An apparent attempt had also been made to get gasoline from an electrically operated pump at the rear of the school.

Millersburg Hosts Antique Festival

Millersburg, in Holmes County, will host the annual Holmes County Antique Festival October 4 and 5.

Located in the heart of Amish country, storefront windows in the city will display private collections of antiques for festival goers. In addition, some 50 antique dealers will form one of the largest antique show and market displays in the state at the local school building.

The weekend of events is spotlighted by a Fireman's parade Saturday night and the Antique Parade Sunday afternoon.

Community organizations provide lawn festivals in addition to the Holmes County specialty food items, trail bologna and swiss cheese, which will be sold by the bulk and by the sandwich.

Local talent will provide continuous entertainment as members of the older generation reminisce about the days of yesteryear and the young set finds a revelation in the items used in grandma and grandpa's day.

Judge Sentences Two For Forgery

Gary L. Sopher, Columbus, was sentenced to Mansfield Reformatory for a period of one to 20 years by Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer Saturday.

Sopher had been placed on three years probation May of this year by Judge Ammer for forgery. Arrested by Columbus police for forgery last week, Sopher was returned here to be sentenced for violation of probation.

Also sentenced for forgery was Roy William Mumaw of Circleville. He was indicted by the April session of the Pickaway County Grand Jury. Judge Ammer sentenced Mumaw to the Ohio Penitentiary for one to 20 years. Another indictment for forgery was nolleed by the judge.

The Niagara Frontier State Park Commission has grown since 1954 from seven parks with 2,990 acres to 14 parks with 4,884 acres.

City Police Investigate 2 Accidents

Circleville Police investigated two injury accidents Saturday.

At 4:08 p.m. Saturday, three cars were involved in a collision on the Lancaster Pike at Pontious Road. Charles Brackett, 43, 690 Garden Parkway, had stopped for a car that was turning left. Ralph Hoffman, 35, 731 Renick Ave., struck a car driven by Myra Carter, 21, 111 Highland Ave., in the rear, knocking it into Brackett's car.

Miss Carter was treated at Berger Hospital for chest, leg and abdomen injuries.

At 5:40 p.m. Michael Funk, 17, 947 Circle Drive, pulled onto Northridge Road into the path of a car driven by Ruby Wise, 42, 510 Ridgewood Drive. Mrs. Wise sustained injuries to her arm and shoulder and was referred by city police to her family physician for treatment.

B&O Rail Overpass Collapses

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A Baltimore Ohio Railroad overpass collapsed onto Fasset Street in East Toledo early today.

No one was injured in the accident.

Officials said the overpass was demolished and morning traffic was tied up because vehicles using the street, a heavily traveled artery into downtown Toledo, had to be detoured.

Several freight cars overturned and one fell to the street. Railroad officials said the accident happened when structural steel on a freight car struck the overpass, ripping it loose.

Railroad crews were sent to the scene to clean up the wreckage and the city set up barricades to reroute traffic.

There was no official estimate of damage, but railroad officials indicated it might be as high as $250,000. Reconstruction of the overpass is expected to take several months.

CBC Students Experience Many Service Areas

Students of Circleville Bible College travelled many thousands of miles in Christian service last school year. The Christian Service Department, under the direction of Rev. Melvin Maxwell, President and Rev. Donald Brown, Christian Service Director, gives opportunity for the entire student body to participate in this practical phase of training.

Through preaching, singing, teaching Sunday School, leading youth services and other avenues of service the students are receiving experience which will help them as they enter church related vocations after graduation.

The college choir is the largest group to go out from the college. These forty individuals have traveled to various churches and denominations in the area, and have given, in addition to two services each Sunday, a number of special concerts.

The Ambassadors Quartet is the farthest traveling group, and frequently went to other states on weekends to preach and sing. The Harmonettes Girls' Trio also traveled extensively throughout the area.

The remainder of the students serve somewhere on an individual basis or are members of a Gospel Team. The teams work together throughout the year in local rest homes, jail services, church services and other capacities.

Another group of students have formed a drama team, which has been putting on a dramatization based on the second coming of Christ. This was presented locally three times last year, and traveled as far as Maryland in its presentation.

Instead of riots and protest marches, Bible college students have been occupied in traveling a distance of three times around the world in telling of the love of God.

Campus Has New Location

For the past twenty years Circleville Bible College has been located at 459 E. Ohio St., but because of the increase in the student body, it now occupies a spacious forty acre campus on East 22.

The buildings have been erected without government assistance. Funds were raised from the sponsoring organization, Churches of Christ in Christian Union, and from private individuals.

An administration — library building, chapel, academic-dining room building, and men's dormitory are presently occupied. A campus center containing recreational and lounge facilities is now under construction. Women's residence halls and housing for married students are still located at the E. Ohio Street address.

Although the new campus is not fully completed, President Melvin Maxwell extends a warm invitation to those in the community to visit the college.

College Intern Missionaries Share Views

"Reach the dying" has been the cry of CBC as the past four years' missionary interns have been sent to various mission fields. The internship program was designed to give selected students the privilege of participating in missionary work first hand.

During the chapel service on Sept. 1, the interns shared with other students their views of the fields. Last summer Kathy Layton, Columbus and Jane Zende, Steubenville, participated in missionary work on the Texas-Mexican border, while Gary Gurwell, Circleville and Dennis Rawlins, Lancaster, helped in the West Indies on the islands of Trinidad, Barbados, Dominica and Antigua.

While on the field, the interns assisted missionaries by teaching Vacation Bible School, preaching, chalk talks, teaching at the Caribbean Bible School, painting, working in banana fields and various other tasks.

Although back from the mission field, their work still continues as they go from church to church speaking with concern one can only get from first hand experience.

New Student Officers Named

Elections have been held for most of the Bible college organizations and classes. Freshmen class officers and representatives will be chosen in October.

Student Missionary Organization: Gary Gurwell, president; David Smith, vice president; Barbara Suttles, corresponding secretary; Patricia McKelvey, recording secretary and Edward Biggs, treasurer.

Student Council: John Meadows, president; David Dean and Mary Jane Stewart, senior representatives; William Purtee and Mary VanHoose, junior representatives; Robert Adkins and Barbara Suttles, sophomore representatives.

Senior Class: Patty Jones, president; David McCullough, vice president; Kathy Layton, secretary; Jeraldine Moore, treasurer and Coleen Barkdull, chaplain.

Junior Class: Stephen Humble, president; David Smith, vice president; Frances Reighard, secretary; Burnadette Gransbury, treasurer; Alvin Conkey, chaplain.

Goals Set By Collegians, Organizations

Bible college students annually set before them goals. This year will be no exception.

The Student Missionary Organization will be giving thousands of dollars raised from offerings of students and faculty. This money will go toward some missionary work around the world.

The Class of 1971 is sponsoring the building of a Prayer House for students. They are selling shares at $1 per brick and need 2,000 shares.

The Evangelical Christian Youth groups of the denomination are raising money at $3 per square foot for the Campus Center, which is now under construction. At present CBC students are trying to sell or purchase themselves one square or more. Anyone purchasing a square will receive a certificate of appreciation and with 75 squares or more, their name will be engraved on a plaque which will be placed in the building permanently.

The Dollar-per-Member-per-Month Plan has been put into practice in the churches. Monthly offerings are taken so students may participate in the building of the new campus.

This year, as in years past, goals will be set before the student body that seem to be impossible to obtain, but through sacrificial giving these goals will be reached.

Four Foreign Students At Bible College

Enrollment this semester as of Sept. 22 totaled 218 students. These are quite evenly divided with 110 men and 108 women.

Twenty denominations are represented with Churches of Christ in Christian Union having the largest number. The majority of students are from Ohio but eleven other states are also represented. Students have come from as far west as California, as far east as Maryland, south from Texas and north from Michigan.

There are four foreign students enrolled from the countries of India, Trinidad, and Dominica.

Songfests, Games, Parties On Students' Social Agenda

Students of Circleville Bible College have versatile interests. September 20 a Gospel Sing was sponsored by the CBC Junior Class.

Songs were sung by Pat Duncan, the master of ceremonies. Harmony by the Mathias Trio, singing by the Laymen Quartet, gospel songs by the Ambassadors Quartet and the Harmonettes Trio, both of CBC, and a solo by Jack O'Bryan of CBC were presented to the audience. A short devotional period was led by Rev. Amos Henry, a professor of Circleville Bible College.

The program ended with all the singers joining to sing "Rock of Ages."

The songs, singing and the Spirit of the Lord provided an enjoyable, refreshing evening for all who attended the Gospel Sing.

The college's annual touch football game was scheduled for Friday, at 5:30 p.m.

The freshmen and sophomores of one team battled it out against the seemingly unbeatable opposing team of juniors and seniors.

At the half time a "queen" was elected by popular acclaim from four male representatives of the classes.

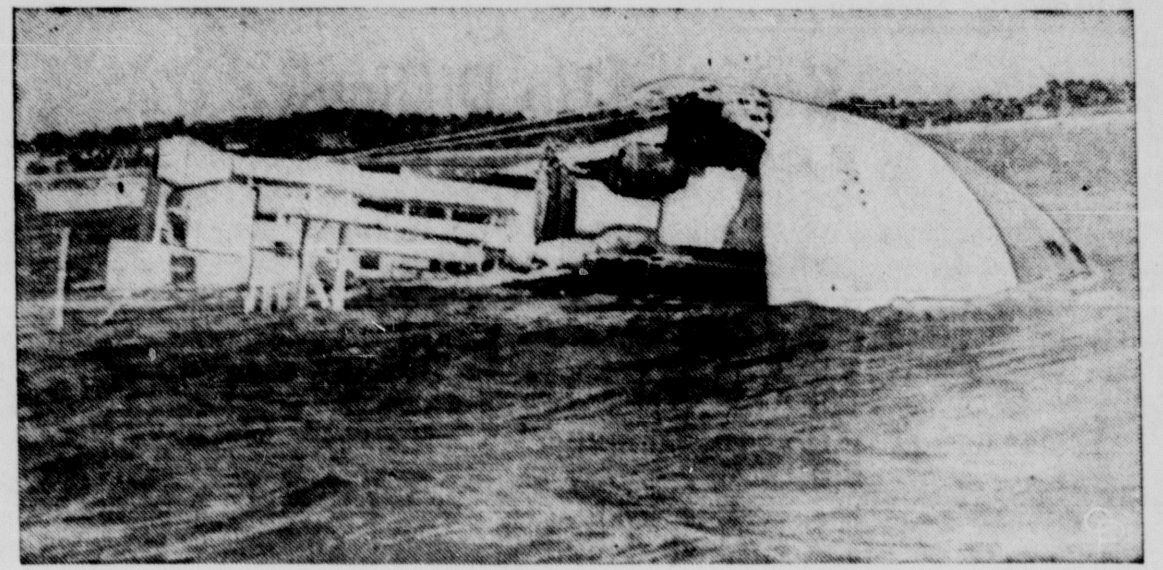

Another item on the CBC calendar is the Halloween party to be held Oct. 31 at 7:30 p.m. The place of the party is always a "secret". Sophomores are in charge of the planning and preparation for the party. The students are looking forward to a "mysterious", but exciting evening.

Keeping Up Difficult

In calling for a 10 per cent hike in social security payouts the administration was acknowledging the latest erosive effects of inflation. Since the last social security increase went into effect in January, 1968, inflation has reduced the value of the dollar about 7.2 per cent.

At the current pace of inflation, by the time the April 1 effective date for the proposed increase is here, inflation will have eroded most of the remaining hike. But at least those who rely on social security payments for their income will be able to stay even with inflation.

Not everyone is that fortunate. There are a few unions which so far have been able to exact wage increases in excess of productivity for their members, thereby helping to feed inflationary fires. And there are a few entrepreneurs who are able to raise their prices to consumers in excess of their rising costs, again helping to push inflation along.

But for the majority of Americans, whether retired or actively employed, the rising cost of living has become a real burden. They cannot stay abreast of rising costs. The only solutions for them are a reduced standard of living, reduced savings, or both.

With less than three months of fiscal 1970 elapsed, it has already been announced that the $6 billion surplus which is the anti-inflationary goal for the year has been eroded by $400 million. This is another bit of evidence as to the continuing effect of inflation.

Perhaps further federal economies can be made to maintain a significant budget surplus for the year. Ending the year well into the black for the first time in many years is a must if some braking is to be placed on inflation before another year goes by.

There is no assurance that Congress will pass the President's social security increase as proposed. It may order a larger increase. But by tradition 1970, because it is a congressional election year, will be a difficult year in which to hold back large new congressional spending programs.

The administration and Congress must work closely together to hold back on this temptation. To destroy any gains made this year in the attack on inflation through pork barrel legislation next year would be neither good politics nor good sense.

Death Toll Of Speed

Many motorists regard the long summer months as the most dangerous time of the year. Impatient drivers facing long lines of traffic, with more people doing more traveling, reinforce this belief.

But a new study by the National Highway Safety Bureau says otherwise. Highway death rates show spectacular increases in the fall, when shortened days result in heavy rush-hour traffic at the end of the day moving at dusk or in darkness.

The study shows that 53 per cent of all fatalities occur after dark, and a high proportion are caused by excessive speed. It was found by analyzing one 12-month period that 12,100 deaths were caused in accidents at speeds in excess of 60 miles an hour. The bureau estimates that 6,800 of these lives could have been saved if speeds involved had been less than 60.

Thus it is that at this time of the year motorists' penchant for high speed collides with increasing hours of darkness to create a disproportionate share of highway fatalities. This is additional reason for caution on the highway.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Fat is a penalty if you are seeking business success. Although one out of every three executives is classed as overweight, only one out of every 10 in the top financial brackets is as much as 10 pounds above normal weight.

Airplanes as well as automobiles are now having trouble finding free wheeling space. It is estimated that in the next five years alone some 700 new airports will be needed in the United States and most major airports already in existence should double their capacity to handle traffic safely.

The more prosperous the nation becomes, the more it forks out for the losers in life's chase of the almighty dollar. A study by Tax Foundation, Inc., revealed that in 1968 federal, state and local governments spent nearly $18 billion on welfare programs for the needy, almost 2½ times the amount spent in 1960.

Quotable notables: "If we do not permit the earth to produce beauty and joy, it will in the end not produce food either."—Joseph Wood Krutch.

The cup that kills: Each year some 200,000 Americans are hospitalized for treatment of delirium tremens resulting from excessive drinking; of the six persons who die each hour in traffic accidents, three or the deaths are attributed to misuse of alcohol.

Are you one of those timid souls who habitually turn the other cheek when you are offended? Well, that might give you the rheumatism. Dr. Harold Geist, a Berkeley, Calif., psychologist, says attacks of arthritis appear to be triggered by the inability of people with "weak egos" to express their anger openly.

Tip to students: If you wish to memorize something, the best way is to rehearse the material just before going to bed and immediately after arising in the morning — thus giving both your conscious and subconscious minds opportunity to fix it in your memory.

Here's another reason for considering going on a low-fat diet: Dr. Samuel Rosen, New York ear specialist, says studies show that the hearing of patients on low-cholesterol diets tends to improve, regardless of their age, and becomes less sharp again if they go off the diets.

Quick facts: The sting of Polynesia's poisonous stonefish can kill a person within two hours. There's enough salt in Utah's Great Salt Lake—5.7 billion tons — to satisfy America's needs for two centuries.

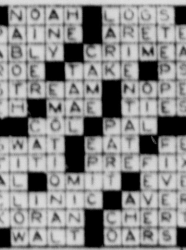

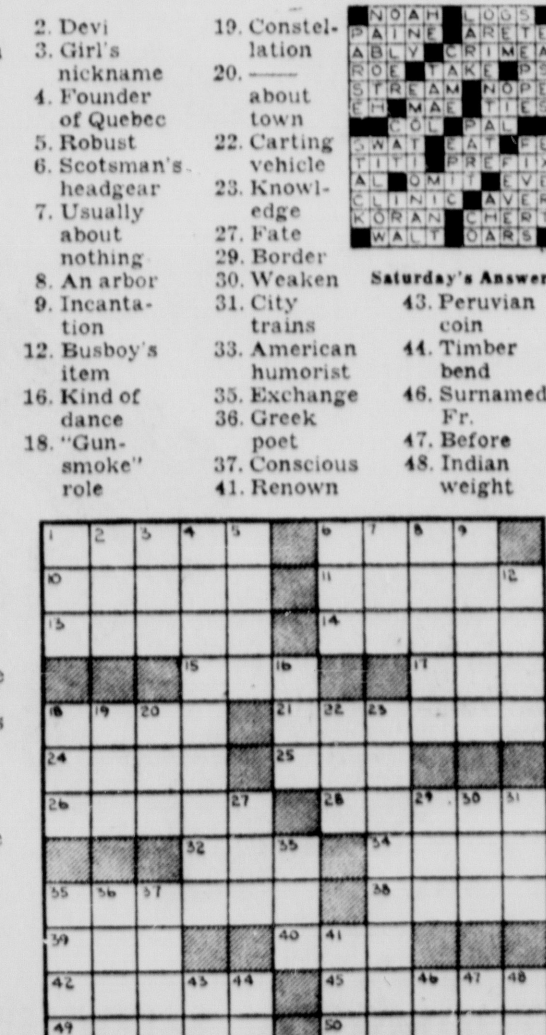

It was artist Vincent van Gogh who observed, "The best way to know God is to love many things."

Presidents will be on display at The National Presbyterian Church in Washington, D. C., when completed in early 1970. Presidents Jackson, Pierce, Polk Cleveland, and Buchanan used this particular pew. A total of 17 Presidents were assigned pews in the historic Capital church.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

It was recently discovered that I have an ulcer of the stomach. Immediately I was told to stop smoking, stop drinking, stop eating and from my point of view, stop living. Why are these hardships imposed on me when I am already bugged by an ulcer?

Mr. O. Y., Maryland Dear Mr. Y.: It does seem unreasonable that you are being deprived of the things you enjoy at this time. Yet this deprivation is imposed because these restrictions play an important part in your eventual recovery.

I have always felt that when patients thoroughly understand exactly what their illness is, how it is caused and what the changes are in the diseased tissues, only then can they accept the rigid treatment required.

In the case of a peptic ulcer of the stomach, there is an actual break in the delicate lining or mucous membrane. It is well-known that emotions, tensions and some foods call forth an excess amount of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. A normal amount is necessary for the proper digestion of some foods that takes place in the stomach.

When the break, or the ulcer, begins, it is obvious that the acid may be responsible for some of the painful symptoms. The burning is like the pain one feels when an alcoholic-after-shave lotion is applied to a cut on the face. Treatment for an ulcer, therefore, is directed at covering the area with bland, soothing foods and antacid medications to encourage healing.

Perhaps with this better understanding of what an ulcer effort must be made to reduce excess acid.

It is recognized that tobacco, alcohol, coffee, spicy foods, curries and severe emotional tensions increase the stomach's production of acid. It is for this reason that your doctor wisely instructed you to change your pattern of living.

I am certain you were not told to stop living, but rather it was emphasized that comfortable living with a healed ulcer is a lot more gratifying than being sick. The limitations may seem to be hardships now, but when you readjust your way of life sensibly and with moderation, you will find that even the feeling of being "bugged" will disappear.

What changes occur in the skin as we grow older? Why are the hands such a telltale indication of age?

Mrs. E. S., Kansas

Dear Mrs. S.: The process of aging is not understood completely. Why some people show their age while others do not, may have some hereditary basis, but there are many variables in this picture. Those who live past 100 are venerated for their age and are always asked to account for their longevity. Some insist that cigars, hard liquor and carousing kept them going. Others feel that a regime of milk and total abstinence is the only answer. The skin, however, doesn't agree with either.

The most obvious change due to age is the color, the pigment, the texture and the tone of the skin. It becomes thinner, less elastic and the wrinkles show. The appearance of the skin, however, does not reflect the health of the heart, the brain and other organs.

Latins Air Development

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Caracas, Venezuela — The pioneers on the North American continent went West and in due time the riverboats and the railroads caught up to them. Then a lot of little steel companies became United States Steel, and Billy Durant, a carriage-maker in Flint, Mich., started acquiring the properties that became General Motors. This is, or ought to be, the classic pattern for the development — so-called undeveloped countries. But it hasn't been the South American pattern: in this continent the coastal cities have tried to jump into the modern world without first sending out those pioneers to develop a back country capable of providing the interior market that any continental economy needs.

The economists of the Mont Pelerin Society, meeting at the government-owned (but privately operated) Macuto Sheraton Hotel on the seacoast not far from Caracas, have just completed a stimulating session largely devoted to the problems of developing countries. The discussions roamed the world, from starvation-threatened India to the Ivory Coast of Africa. Naturally, being free trade and "anti-planification" economists for the most part, the Mont Pelerins were attempting to establish an ideological beachhead in a part of the world that has always been timid about letting the free spirit try to make it on his own. The surprising thing is that Latin American attendants at the Mont Pelerin Conference often outdid the speakers from the United States and Western Europe in urging that governments get off the backs of enterprisers everywhere.

It was a Mexican, Gustavo Valesco, who contributed the most uncompromising paper to the discussion, warning his fellow Latins against "the greatest enemy, the State." In a private conversation Senor Valesco pointed to the development of the oil industry in Venezuela. "This country," he said, "owes everything to Mexico."

When the Mexican government nationalized its oil industry, the Americans came down here. He added the wry observation that if the Venezuelans weren't careful, they, too, could kill the capitalist goose that lays the golden eggs.

With a worried eye on the oil strikes in Alaska, the Venezuelan government would hardly go the nationalization route vis-a-vis the North American oil developments in the Lake Maracaibo region. Even so, a neophyte with a free enterprise bias must wonder at the rage for protectionism that keeps local prices high throughout the full reach of the Venezuelan economy. With a view to creating employment and developing an automobile assembly industry in Venezuela, the import cost of buying a Detroit car is set at a figure that is twice the cost of a car in the United States. Is it merely innocent to remark that if cars were cheaper in Venezuela, the local service stations would find a much better local market for surplus Venezuelan oil products? Wouldn't it be better to put the extensive government oil royalties into roads opening up the extensive Venezuelan hinterland?

Indeed, the local "planners" in Venezuela seem to entertain the almost universal delusion of the developing country that you can build a country by forced draught of the most sophisticated types of industry. This creates a superstructure without foundations. If the roads and the service stations were encouraged in Venezuela,

On May 10, 1869, Morse code carried the message, "The last rail is laid," as it was tapped out to notify President Grant and the nation that the transcontinental railroad was completed.

wouldn't it follow in due course that a car industry would arise without the protectionism that throttles local purchasing power.

The Mont Pelerin Conference papers occasionally touched on specifics that could be of particular benefit in Latin American countries. Thus, in a paper on contract farming, Professor Karl Brandt of Stanford University spoke of a development in Venezuela's next door neighbor, Colombia, which might point the way to solving the agricultural crisis without coercion by collectivists or preceding land redistribution.

Said Dr. Brandt: "One of the rapidly developing country's largest beer-brewing corporations initiated — with consent of the Federal Government — a participation of small farmers in the production of top quality brewing barley for making the needed malt. Originally the special kind of barley was imported from Germany. Since World War I it was imported from Oregon in the United States. After World War II it was produced — with technical aid from the U.S. and the Rockefeller Foundation — on ultra-modern large haciendas in Colombia owned and operated by the brewing corporation. Several years ago its management offered to individual small farmers in distant rural areas renewable one-year contracts for growing brewing barley. The corporation's experienced foremen of its mechanized haciendas approached the small farmers individually, casually, man-to-man.

They offered those who asked for it a contract . . . to let small farmers participate without delay in the increase in productivity of management, labor, capital and land."

Whether Venezuela will profit from the Mont Pelerin message is a moot thing. "Que sera, sera." (What will be, will be.) But the hospitality accorded the visiting free market economists was genuine; maybe it will be followed by the imitation that is the sincerest form of flattery.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

It was recently discovered that I have an ulcer of the stomach. Immediately I was told to stop smoking, stop drinking, stop eating and from my point of view, stop living. Why are these hardships imposed on me when I am already bugged by an ulcer?

Mr. O. Y., Maryland Dear Mr. Y.: It does seem unreasonable that you are being deprived of the things you enjoy at this time. Yet this deprivation is imposed because these restrictions play an important part in your eventual recovery.

I have always felt that when patients thoroughly understand exactly what their illness is, how it is caused and what the changes are in the diseased tissues, only then can they accept the rigid treatment required.

In the case of a peptic ulcer of the stomach, there is an actual break in the delicate lining or mucous membrane. It is well-known that emotions, tensions and some foods call forth an excess amount of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. A normal amount is necessary for the proper digestion of some foods that takes place in the stomach.

When the break, or the ulcer, begins, it is obvious that the acid may be responsible for some of the painful symptoms. The burning is like the pain one feels when an alcoholic-after-shave lotion is applied to a cut on the face. Treatment for an ulcer, therefore, is directed at covering the area with bland, soothing foods and antacid medications to encourage healing.

Perhaps with this better understanding of what an ulcer effort must be made to reduce excess acid.

It is recognized that tobacco, alcohol, coffee, spicy foods, curries and severe emotional tensions increase the stomach's production of acid. It is for this reason that your doctor wisely instructed you to change your pattern of living.

I am certain you were not told to stop living, but rather it was emphasized that comfortable living with a healed ulcer is a lot more gratifying than being sick. The limitations may seem to be hardships now, but when you readjust your way of life sensibly and with moderation, you will find that even the feeling of being "bugged" will disappear.

What changes occur in the skin as we grow older? Why are the hands such a telltale indication of age?

Mrs. E. S., Kansas Dear Mrs. S.: The process of aging is not understood completely. Why some people show their age while others do not, may have some hereditary basis, but there are many variables in this picture. Those who live past 100 are venerated for their age and are always asked to account for their longevity. Some insist that cigars, hard liquor and carousing kept them going. Others feel that a regime of milk and total abstinence is the only answer. The skin, however, doesn't agree with either.

The most obvious change due to age is the color, the pigment, the texture and the tone of the skin. It becomes thinner, less elastic and the wrinkles show. The appearance of the skin, however, does not reflect the health of the heart, the brain and other organs.

Indeed, the local "planners" in Venezuela seem to entertain the almost universal delusion of the developing country that you can build a country by forced draught of the most sophisticated types of industry. This creates a superstructure without foundations. If the roads and the service station, were encouraged in Venezuela,

Latins Air Development

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Caracas, Venezuela — The pioneers on the North American continent went West and in due time the riverboats and the railroads caught up to them. Then a lot of little steel companies became United States Steel, and Billy Durant, a carriage-maker in Flint, Mich., started acquiring the properties that became General Motors. This is, or ought to be, the classic pattern for the development — so-called undeveloped countries. But it hasn't been the South American pattern: in this continent the coastal cities have tried to jump into the modern world without first sending out those pioneers to develop a back country capable of providing the interior market that any continental economy needs.

The economists of the Mont Pelerin Society, meeting at the government-owned (but privately operated) Macao Sheraton Hotel on the seacoast not far from Caracas, have just completed a stimulating session largely devoted to the problems of developing countries. The discussions roamed the world, from starvation-threatened India to the Ivory Coast of Africa. Naturally, being free trade and "anti-planification" economists for the most part, the Mont Pelerins were attempting to establish an ideological beachhead in a part of the world that has always been timid about letting the free spirit try to make it on his own. The surprising thing is that Latin American attendants at the Mont Pelerin Conference often outdid the speakers from the United States and Western Europe in urging that governments get off the backs of enterprisers everywhere.

It was a Mexican, Gustavo Valesco, who contributed the most uncompromising paper to the discussion, warning his fellow Latins against "the greatest enemy, the State." In a private conversation Senor Valesco pointed to the development of the oil industry in Venezuela. "This country," he said, "owes everything to Mexico."

When the Mexican government nationalized its oil industry, the Americans came down here. He added the wry observation that if the Venezuelans weren't careful, they, too, could kill the capitalist goose that lays the golden eggs.

With a worried eye on the oil strikes in Alaska, the Venezuelan government would hardly go the nationalization route vis-a-vis the North American oil developments in the Lake Maracaibo region. Even so, a neophyte with a free enterprise bias must wonder at the rage for protectionism that keeps local prices high throughout the full reach of the Venezuelan economy. With a view to creating employment and developing an automobile assembly industry in Venezuela, the import cost of buying a Detroit car is set at a figure that is twice the cost of a car in the United States. Is it merely innocent to remark that if cars were cheaper in Venezuela, the local service stations would find a much better local market for surplus Venezuelan oil products? Wouldn't it be better to put the extensive government oil royalties into roads opening up the extensive Venezuelan hinterland?

wouldn't it follow in due course that a car industry would arise without the protectionism that throttles local purchasing power.

The Mont Pelerin Conference papers occasionally touched on specifics that could be of particular benefit in Latin American countries. Thus, in a paper on contract farming, Professor Karl Brandt of Stanford University spoke of a development in Venezuela's next door neighbor, Colombia, which might point the way to solving the agricultural crisis without concern by collectivism or preceding land redistribution.

Said Dr. Brandt: "One of the rapidly developing country's largest beer-brewing corporations initiated — with consent of the Federal Government — a participation of small farmers in the production of top quality brewing barley for making the needed malt. Originally the special kind of barley was imported from Germany. Since World War I it was imported from Oregon in the United States. After World War II it was produced — with technical aid from the U.S. and the Rockefeller Foundation — on ultra-modern large haciendas in Colombia owned and operated by the brewing corporation. Several years ago its management offered to individual small farmers in distant rural areas renewable one-year contracts for growing brewing barley. The corporation's experienced foremen of its mechanized haciendas approached the small farmers individually, casually, man-to-man.

They offered those who asked for it a contract . . . to let small farmers participate without delay in the increase in productivity of management, labor, capital and land."

Whether Venezuela will profit from the Mont Pelerin message is a moot thing. "Que sera sera." (What will be, will be.) But the hospitality accorded the visiting free market economists was genuine; maybe it will be followed by the imitation that is the sincerest form of flattery.

2 Lecturers At Grange Conference

Mrs. Leora Sayre, lecturer of Pickaway County Fomona Grange and Paul M. Dunkle, lecturer of Salter Creek Valley Grange, were among one hundred and twenty lecturers from Ohio granges who spent the weekend at Pilgrim Hills Conference Center in Coshocton County.

Each year the lecturers meet to study and discuss the program which is one of the major sections of grange work involving all grange members. In addition to the discussions, each attending lecturer attends classes which are in the form of workshops which benefit the part of the lecturer in grange meetings.

The theme for the conference this year was "Theme Programs," with the workshops being devoted to a phase of the theme. A workshop on ritualism was conducted by the Ohio State Grange Master, James Ross. The National Grange Lecturer, William Brake of Michigan, worked with the members on the national program. "Theme Programs" was the subject for the session with Martha Knowlton, of Violet Grange in Fairfield County. The fourth workshop was devoted to music and was conducted by Dunkle, who also was in charge of the evening recreation period and who assisted with the morning worship service conducted by the Ohio State Grange Chaplain, Robert Wells.

The conference was directed by the Ohio State Grange Lecturer, Gustav Umbach, who plans the program for Ohio lecturers.

NEW YORK (AP) — The dean of television variety shows started its 22nd season Sunday night as the dean of television variety hosts celebrated his 67th birthday.

Both looked in pretty good shape. The vaudeville format of "The Ed Sullivan Show" hasn't really changed much since 1947, but the entertainment now has "production values" where once there was a bare stage and a curtain.

Sullivan had a really big show for the double occasion—Tony Bennett and the Temptations singing, Red Skelton in a drunk sketch, and a tape of Barbra Streisand singing "Hello, Dolly" songs before a Las Vegas night club audience.

The third segment of "The Bold Ones," making its NBC debut, had a tough police officer and a determined district attorney fighting crime in a reluctant, suspicious partnership. The show started with a murder and worked around to crooked politicians and graft.

A scratchy relationship between the two leads and the decisive playing of Leslie Nielsen as the cop and Hari Rhodes as the district attorney make the hour a cut above the usual police action tale.

ABC's new Friday night situation comedies are not likely to cause much of a ripple.

"The Brady Bunch" has a widow with three girls marrying a widower with three boys. There is also a cat, a dog and a comedy housekeeper. The mood is strictly slapstick: Dog chases cat through wedding reception and bridegroom winds up with face in cake. It seemed familiar and predictable, not worth the talents of performers such as Robert Reed, Florence Henderson and Ann B. Davis.

"Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" was spun off a 30-year-old movie and looks it. The hero is a forthright, simple country editor who inherits $50 million and proceeds to confound the city slickers with his unassailable virtue and idealism. It was, however, a very busy premiere. Longfellow Deeds, played by Monte Markham, had to inherit the money, move from his editor's chair to a plush city penthouse and be almost victimized in a con game.

On Friday night, there also was the debut of the ABC variety series starring Jimmy Durante and the Lennon Sisters, a show deliberately built for the family audience. Durante has a warmth and style that seems to become richer with age. The four sisters sang nicely together, and are sweet-faced, demure young women who project a wholesome, healthy image. The music was pleasant, the sets handsome. But it was Durante, with a major assist from guest star Jack Benny, who gave the hour its go and its humor.

The weekend should also include mention of the return of Jackie Gleason to CBS Saturday. Not "The Jackie Gleason Show," Jackie himself. The show was a "Honeymooners" musical and not one of the best. But "the new Jackie Gleason" was something else: Scores of pounds thinner, handsome and debonair.

He looked, in fact, like a matinee idol pretending to be Ralph the bus driver.

Recommended tonight: "The Survivors," premiere, ABC, 9-10 EDT, first chapter of a TV "novel" about life in the jet set, with Lana Turner, George Hamilton and Ralph Bellamy; "Love, American Style," ABC, premiere, 10-11, three comedy vignettes, all about love, with Michael Callan, Flip Wilson, Robert Cummings and Jane Wyatt among the players.

House Demos Eye Leader's Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats already are beginning to choose up sides in a leadership contest that will erupt when Speaker John W. McCormack steps down.

There is no indication the 77-year-old McCormack has retirement in mind, but the possibility that he will make this Congress his last is enough to start the jockeying for position.

Because of McCormack's sensitivity on the subject nothing is being said or done openly, but it is a lively topic of discussion in private talks in a number of offices.

Majority Leader Carl Albert, who avoids such talk or meetings, appears solidly in line to succeed McCormack. The fight shapes up as one to replace Albert as majority leader—providing that Democrats still have control of the House when the showdown comes.

Moderate, urban-oriented Democrats are determined to put one of their members in the position. This would mean shunting aside Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, who as party whip is a rung behind Albert on the current leadership ladder.

The more conservative Democrats, largely southern based, would like to see a majority leader closer to their views.

For years the most likely candidate of conservative Democrats has been Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. But Mills' ambition is to be speaker, not majority leader.

Until recently it appeared Mills might be in a position to challenge Albert as Mc-

Cormack's successor. His already great stature was enhanced by his performance in putting through the big tax reform bill, and Albert seemed unwilling to emerge from McCormack's shadow.

But in the past few weeks Albert has shown a new militance and independence that has heartened his supporters and strengthened his position.

As an Oklahoman, Albert has enough "country" in him to satisfy the southerners, and his stalwart support of Democratic party programs has kept his standing high among the liberals and moderates.

If McCormack should retire at the end of the 91st session, or if he were forced by illness or other circumstances to step down earlier, there seems little likelihood now of anyone successfully challenging Albert. It would be a new and far different situation if McCormack decided to hang on and try for another term in 1971.

Second Thailand Program Presented To Monday Club

Monday Club held its second meeting of the season in the meeting room of the Pickaway County Historical Society.

Mrs. William Cox, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Walter Sale presented the second program of the Club's theme for the year, "The Emerging Nations In A World of Conflict." It was also the second part of three programs on Thailand.

"To most of us Americans," Mrs. Sale said, "the little country of Thailand is really very strange... elephants are part of the labor force, grown-up people fly kites, no home is completed without a spirit house etc."

In Thailand people are quite different from more serious Americans. They are more law-abiding, gentle and patient, always find ways to enjoy themselves and their favorite expression is "Mai - Pen - Rai," which means "it doesn't matter."

The Thais are good looking people, small, slight and delicately built. The women especially are quite graceful, perhaps dancing makes them so. The dance is very important in Thailand and many girls spend hours each day practicing. The women have won their independence in this country and have become experts in many fields.

Thailand, of all the Southeast Asian countries was never an European colony so Western social customs have not been adopted to any great extent.

There are thousands of American soldiers and technicians in Thailand now and there may be a great change due to this.

Thai cooking is a combination of Chinese and Indian cooking. To most of the people, "to eat" is Kin Kow which means "to eat rice." Whatever else one eats, fish meat or fruit, is Gup Kow, meaning "with rice." So, the rice basis combined with the curry of India and the condiments of China produces a meal which makes the newcomer suspect he has swallowed a napalm bomb.

Relations between the races are excellent in Thailand. They are very tolerant people and readily accept foreigners as equals. There is however a Chinese problem. There are about three million Chinese out of thirty-three million population and about five hundred thousand are pure Chinese. The Chinese do not adapt the Thai expression of "it does not matter," but are go-getters in banking, the retail trades and industries, including rice mills.

Religion is the most powerful force in Thailand. Most Thais are Buddhists, over 90 per cent and it is the strangest element in their lives. Of course there are other religions in Thailand besides Buddhism. Christian missionaries have lived and worked there for over 200 years. Their excellent schools are especially appreciated. Many Buddhist children from the middle and upper class families attend these schools. The schools provide excellent preparation for later study in Europe and the United States.

Schools are very important to the lives of modern Thai families. New modern schools are in the government budget and are being built as fast as possible. Also the intensive religious study of the Buddhists has whetted their appetites for education. Temple boys make an impression on the people with their ability to read and write.

The study of the language seems more difficult than ours because the children must master the intricacies of a tonal language. The utterance of each word must be properly keyed because words pronounced in exactly the same way have different meanings depending whether the word is spoken with a high, middle or low pitch. This makes the Thai language very musical.

There is higher education but only the intellectual elite attend the five universities of the country. From these universities come the leaders of the government, economy and cultural life. Most of the professors have studied in the leading colleges of the United States and Europe.

All the arts of Thailand have been strongly influenced by the arts of India and by the arts and teaching of Buddha. This art is perhaps the most beautiful in all the world.

The theater is very much alive and there are two kinds of plays, the Kohn and the Lakon. Both are combinations of classic dances and opera and both originated in India. Both are based on legends and the audience comes to the theatre already familiar with what is going to happen. Episodes from the Khon play were produced in honor of President and Mrs. Johnson when they visited the country.

Folk dancing has become popular in Thailand. The dancers step along to music that is almost jazz. In larger cities the young people have taken to Western tunes. The thousands of American G.I.'s on rest and recreation leave have taught them the latest beats. The Thai love music, both vocal and instrumental. The musicians sit on the floor before their instruments. The music is largely from memory and they play mostly by ear.

A sense of the artistic is embodied in all levels and aspects of Thai society, in food. Fruits and vegetables are never just peeled but with the use of an ordinary kitchen knife they are carved into artistic forms.

Elaborate floral arrangements are fashioned out of flower petals for offerings in the temple or for the home. Beautiful workmanship is shown by the silver craftsmen. The kind of silver called Nielloware has a blackened surface through which graceful designs clearly show. It is created by oxidizing an alloy into silver.

Finally, Thailand is the home of fine jewelry, and there is a lively import trade in fine gems as well as rubies, sapphires, zircons and gold from domestic sources.

Monday Club members also enjoyed viewing a fine collection of silver jewelry and bronze flatware brought by Mrs. Cox whose husband obtained the items when stationed in Thailand.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Be Firm With Your Children!

DEAR ABBY: In two weeks my husband and I will be going on our vacation. After much persuasion, we agreed to let our two sons, 17 and 20 stay home and "batch it."

Last week we discovered that the boys are planning to invite about 15 couples, boys and girls, to a party at the house while we're gone.

We firmly told them that they could have the party only if an aunt and uncle chaperoned it. They boys didn't like that idea, and suggested instead that a newly-married couple of their acquaintance be the chaperones. (This couple is about the age of our elder son.) My husband promptly vetoed that suggestion. We then gave the boys a choice of postponing the party until we return, having the party before we go, or having the aunt and uncle chaperone it. Well, their noses have been out of joint ever since.

Abby, my husband and I have looked forward to a well-earned vacation, and we would not feel at ease unless we were reasonably certain that everything would be all right at home. Do you think we are being fair in our demands?

J. K.
DEAR J. K.: Yes, and hooray for you and for all other parents who insist on having a clearcut understanding of what their children may and may not do in their absence.

DEAR ABBY: I am presently dating a young man who is wonderful in every way. He is studying for the ministry and has not been around very much. I noticed the first time we ate together that he cut all the pieces before eating even the first piece. I didn't say anything of course because I didn't want to hurt his feelings. Well, Abby, he STILL does it, and when we are in public it is embarrassing. His plate looks like he is ready to feed a dog or a small child.

Is there some nice way I can tell him that he should cut only one piece at a time? He's such a dear, sensitive person I'd hate to offend him.

TOUCHY SUBJECT
DEAR TOUCHY: If you can't bring yourself to TELL him, clip this item and mail it to him with one of those cute "to a special person" cards and sign your name!

DEAR ABBY: Our neighbors' house burned down and we told them they could stay with us "for a few days" - until they found other living quarters. Well, it has been nearly two months and they're still here, and we don't know how to get them out.

These people have four school-age children, two in diapers, two dogs, and a cat. My house is a mess from one end to the other. We can't have anyone visit us as these folks who lost their house are always having company visiting THEM.

They are nice people, Abby, and we don't want to hurt their feelings, but they never mention looking for another place to live and we have had it. We are a family of seven, so you know that we are

"VERY CROWDED!"
DEAR CROWDED: It would appear that your neighbors are the kind of people who will stay until YOU make the first move - so make it. Tell them frankly that it's time they found other living quarters. (Could they be waiting for smoke signals?)

NOTE TO "UPS AND DOWNS": This may surprise you, but more often than not the more neurotic partner in a marriage is the one who isn't seeing a psychiatrist.

Bayh Raps Haynsworth

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The nomination of Judge Clement Haynsworth to the U.S. Supreme Court was criticized here Saturday by U.S. Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana.

The Indiana Democrat was in Columbus to address a $25-a-plate fund raising dinner of the Franklin County Democratic Party.

Bayh referred to former Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas and charged, "It seems we have two standards—one for a Jewish attorney and another for a Southern conservative."

He added, however, that if a vote were taken now Haynsworth would be approved. During his dinner talk, Bayh hammered away at the Nixon administration's reduction of funds for higher education and said Nixon has cut three major federal programs by $66 million.

The Pledge to the Flag of the United States of America, led by Mrs. Irvin Smith, opened the business meeting, followed by singing "The Battle Hymn Of the Republic."

Miss Lucille Dumm used as her topic for discussion "Pornography And Our Youth." Various opinions were given as to how to combat this serious problem. Problems on college and university campuses were also discussed.

Games were conducted with prizes awarded to Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Roger Jury and Mrs. Wayne Stonerock, who also received the door prize. Each member received a gift.

Mrs. Irvin Smith, 1307 S. Pickaway St., will be hostess in her home for the October meeting with Mrs. Stonerock as co-hostess.

Bayh Raps Haynsworth

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The nomination of Judge Clement Haynsworth to the U.S. Supreme Court was criticized here Saturday by U.S. Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana.

The Indiana Democrat was in Columbus to address a $25-a-plate fund raising dinner of the Franklin County Democratic Party.

Bayh referred to former Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas and charged, "It seems we have two standards—one for a Jewish attorney and another for a Southern conservative."

He added, however, that if a vote were taken now Haynsworth would be approved.

During his dinner talk, Bayh hammered away at the Nixon administration's reduction of funds for higher education and said Nixon has cut three major federal programs by $66 million.

Rain Mars Mostly Dry U.S. Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers and thundershowers in the western Midwest and in Florida marred a generally clear national weather picture early today.

In much of the area from Michigan to West Virginia and Western Maryland, temperatures fell into the 30s.

Moist tropical air brought locally heavy showers to parts of Florida Sunday night and early today, with West Palm Beach measuring nearly 1 1/2 inches during the period.

A storm system moving eastward from the northern plains caused thunderstorm activity to develop in the western Midwest.

Frost warnings were up in much of northern Michigan and the weather Bureau said there was a threat of frost for portions of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Western Maryland.

Clear, dry weather dominated the eastern third of the nation and most of the West, with mild to warm weather in the Southern states causing predawn temperatures to range from the 50s to the 80s.

Lose 10 lbs. in 10 Days on Grapefruit Diet

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. (Special) — This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Thousands of "copes" have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S.

Because this diet really works. We have testimonials reporting on its success. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. No weight loss in the first four days but you will suddenly drop 3 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1 1/2 pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there will be no hunger pangs. Revised and enlarged, this diet lets you stuff yourself with formerly "forbidden" foods, such as steaks trimmed with fat, roast or fried chicken, gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon, fats, sausages and scrambled eggs and still lose weight. The secret behind this "quick weight loss" diet is simple. Fat does not form fat. And the grapefruit juice in this diet acts as a catalyst (the "trigger"), to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. A copy of this startling successful diet can be obtained by sending $2 to

Citrus Diet Plan

Money-back guarantee. If after trying the diet you have not lost 7 pounds in the first seven days, another 60 pounds in the next 7 days, and 1 1/2 pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $2 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim attractive figure of your youth.

Battling Bengals Upset Chiefs, 24-19

By SHEILA MORAN
Coach Paul Brown of the amazing Cincinnati Bengals won't argue with success but he does question it.
"I don't know exactly what's doing it. It's a miracle," he said after his Bengals upset Kansas City 24-19 Sunday for their third straight victory and the Chiefs' first loss after six exhibition victories and two regular season triumphs.
In three games this year, all at home, the Bengals have equaled their winning record of last year when they joined the American Football League as a ragamuffin expansion team. They wound up in last place in the Western Division. Today, they're tied with Oakland for first.

As far as the Chiefs are concerned, however, the Bengals are for real.
"They played an outstanding game," said Chiefs' Coach Hank Stram.
"For us it was a game of missed opportunities."
Cincinnati pulled it off despite the second period injury of sensational rookie quarterback Greg Cook. Brown said later that Cook pulled a muscle in his right arm and will start against the Chargers at San Diego next Sunday.

Kansas City wasn't so lucky. Star quarterback Len Dawson was removed from the active list because of a knee injury and is expected to be out six weeks.
"I didn't want to take a chance with him if I didn't have to," Brown said in explaining why he didn't play Cook during the second half.
In other AFL games, San Diego, 1-2, surprised the world champion New York Jets, 1-2, 34-27; Buffalo, 1-2, routed Denver, 2-1, 41-28; Oakland, 3-0, upended Boston, 0-3, 38-23; and Houston, 2-1, drubbed Miami, 0-3, 22-10.

In the National League, Minnesota, upset Baltimore, 32-14; Green Bay beat San Francisco 14-7; Dallas defeated New Orleans 21-17; Detroit blanked the New York Giants 24-0; Los Angeles overpowered Atlanta 17-7; St. Louis nipped Chicago 20-17; Philadelphia mauled Pittsburgh 41-27; and Cleveland crunched Washington 27-23.

In his first start of the season, Sam Wyche, Cook's replacement, hit tight end Bob Trumpy with an 80-yard bomb in the opening seconds of the fourth period and gave the Bengals a 17-13 lead after a scoreless third quarter.
"Somebody had to step in and do the job," Brown said, "and Sambo did it."
The decisive Cincinnati touchdown was set up when Clem Turner recovered Noland Smith's fumble on a Bengals punt on the Chiefs' 25. Six plays later, Jess Phillips scrambled in from the 10.

"The play that really killed us was that fumbled punt," Stram said.
Quarterback John Hadl threw for three of the Chargers' five touchdowns against the slumping Jets, who lost their second straight game. The New Yorkers almost made it a tie in the final two minutes but quarterback Joe Namath's pass to Bill Mathis was underthrown on a fourth down play on the Chargers' five.

Twins, Pilots Split Pair, 5-2, 4-1

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Dave Boswell hasn't been the same pitcher since he saw stars a couple of months ago... and neither has John "Blue Moon" Odum.

Boswell, knocked dizzy by Minnesota Manager Billy Martin in an Aug. 6 family battle, capped a remarkable late season surge Sunday by defeating Seattle 5-2 in the opener of a doubleheader to become the Twins' second 20-game winner.

The Pilots took the second game 4-1 behind rookie Dick Baney after Boswell posted his eighth triumph in 10 decisions since the publicized brawl and joined teammate Jim Perry in a circle of six American League 20-game winners.

New York's Mel Stottlemyre also won his 20th Sunday, beating Baltimore 3-2.

But Odum, a 14-game winner for Oakland in July, remained in a tailspin that began for him in the All-Star game as the Athletics bowed to California 6-5 in 11 innings.

Odum, who was rocked for five runs in one third inning by the National League All-Stars and has won just one game in the AL since then, hit his fifth homer of the season to snap a seventh inning deadlock. But he blew the lead the following inning and was ejected from the game for disputing a call.

Elsewhere, Washington topped Cleveland 7-6 on Del Unser's 10th inning homer. Kansas City whipped the Chicago White Sox 10-3 and Detroit smacked Boston 10-3.

The Pilots managed only three hits against Boswell, 20-11, and reliever Ron Perranoski, who worked the last two innings for his 30th save of the year, in the first game at Seattle.

But they backed Baney, making his major league debut, with a 12-hit attack in the nightcap, Don Mincher driving in three runs with a double and his 25th homer to lead the way.

The Yankees rallied for two runs in the ninth, Frank Fernandez scoring the winner on a throwing error by Brooks Robinson, to overtake the Orioles. The victory brought Stottlemyre's record to 20-14.

Roger Repoz's second homer of the game, a two-run wallop in the 11th, carried the Angels past Oakland long after Odum's departure.

The Senators blew a 6-0 lead before putting out their sixth consecutive victory on Unser's homer off Cleveland reliever Stan Williams.

Ed Kirkpatrick hit two homers and Bob Oliver and Scott Northey one each, leading Kansas City past the White Sox.

Home runs by Tom Tresh, Al Kaline and Mickey Stanley propelled left-hander Mickey Lolich to his 19th victory as the Tigers belted Boston for a two-game edge over the Red Sox in the struggle for second place in the East Division.

Willie McCovey brought Giant fans some small salvation by whacking his 45th homer of the year and taking over the National League lead from Hank Aaron. It is the only place the Braves trail the Giants today.

Three Met pitchers shared a four-hit shutout as New York's precocious young hurling staff extended its scoreless streak to four games and 42 consecutive innings. Gary Gentry worked the first five innings and was credited with his 13th victory while Nolan Ryan and Ron Taylor finished up.

Tony Perez tagged a two-run homer, leading the Reds past Houston. Three Cincinnati pitchers including Wayne Granger shared the four-hitter. Granger set a major league record with his 89th appearance of the year.

Bob Gibson won his 10th game, shutting out the Expos, and starting St. Louis' winning rally with a ninth inning single. After Gibson singled, Byron Browne tripled him home and then Joe Torre knocked in Browne with another hit.

Billy Williams drilled a three-run homer to account for all the Chicago runs and Bill Hands won his 20th game, beating the Pirates. It ended an 11-game losing streak for the Cubs in Pittsburgh.

Rams Edge Atlanta; Vikings Rout Colts

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Minnesota's Joe Kapp handed out passes all over the place—seven to the end zone but none to the Baltimore Colts' dressing room.
Kapp completed 28 of 43 passes for 449 yards and a record-equaling seven touchdowns Sunday as the Vikings routed Baltimore 52-14 and Colts Coach Don Shula asked writers not to interview his players after their second straight loss.
Kapp tied the National Football League record of seven touchdowns passes in a game held by Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears, Y. A. Tittle of the New York Giants and Adrian Burk of the Philadelphia Eagles. Only George Blanda, when he was with the Houston Oilers, has thrown as many as seven scoring passes in a game in the American Football League.
In other NFL action, Los Angeles, 2-0, stopped Atlanta, 1-1, 17-7; Green Bay, 2-0, held off San Francisco, 0-2, 14-7; Cleveland, 2-0, edged Washington 17-23; Dallas, 2-0, nipped New Orleans, 0-2, 21-17; Detroit, 1-1, drubbed the New York Giants,

1-1, 24-0; St. Louis, 1-1, topped Chicago 0-2, 20-17, and Philadelphia, 1-1, outlasted Pittsburgh, 1-1, 41-27.
The Vikings "took a chapter out of Baltimore's book—striking early and controlling the ball," said Minnesota Coach Bud Grant.
Kapp, who did not play in the Vikings' 24-23, season-opening upset loss to the Giants, hit on his first six passes against the Colts and brought Minnesota its first touchdown with an 8-yarder to Dave Osborn after the first two minutes of play.
His other scoring strikes were of 83 and 41 yards to Gene Washington and of 21, 13, 1 and 15 yards to four other receivers.
Meanwhile, the Vikings defense harassed Baltimore quarterbacks Johnny Unitas and Earl Morrall. Unitas completed just two of his 13 passes and ended up eight for 22 for 68 yards with one interception. Morrall was 12 of 20 for 127 yards and had two interceptions.
"I'm ashamed of myself and I'm ashamed of my team," said Shula. "We were not ready to play when we hit the field."
Kapp said simply, "Our offensive line did a tremendous job."

Los Angeles, now two games ahead of arch-rival Baltimore and in first place in the Coastal Division, built a 17-0 halftime lead, then held off Atlanta. Larry Smith slammed one yard for the first Rams' touchdown and Roman Gabriel threw a four-yard pass for the other.
Herb Adderley's interception of a John Brodie pass on the Green Bay goal line saved the Packers, who scored on an 87-yard return of the second-half kickoff by rookie Dave Hampton and a Bart Starr-to-Jim Grabowski swing pass for two yards. The 49ers' score came on an 80-yard bomb from Brodie to Clifton McNeil.

Elsewhere in the National League Sunday, New York the East Division champions, won its eighth straight, beating Philadelphia 2-0. St. Louis blanked Montreal 2-0, Cincinnati stung Houston 4-1 and Chicago dropped Pittsburgh 3-1.
Hot-hitting Rico Carty led the Braves to the tie-clinching victory over the Padres. He smashed a two-run homer in the first inning and then doubled home another run in the eighth.
The hits raised Carty's batting average for the season to .343. He has batted .411 for the last 18 games.

Marichal kept the Giants fading hopes alive with his 21st victory of the year. San Francisco broke the game open with a five-run sixth inning as Bill Singer failed for the fourth time to win his 20th game.

Willie McCovey brought Giant fans some small salvation by whacking his 45th homer of the year and taking over the National League lead from Hank Aaron. It is the only place the Braves trail the Giants today.
Three Met pitchers shared a four-hit shutout as New York's precocious young hurling staff extended its scoreless streak to four games and 42 consecutive innings. Gary Gentry worked the first five innings and was credited with his 13th victory while Nolan Ryan and Ron Taylor finished up.
Tony Perez tagged a two-run homer, leading the Reds past Houston. Three Cincinnati pitchers including Wayne Granger shared the four-hitter. Granger set a major league record with his 89th appearance of the year.
Bob Gibson won his 10th game, shutting out the Expos, and starting St. Louis' winning rally with a ninth inning single. After Gibson singled, Byron Browne tripled him home and then Joe Torre knocked in Browne with another hit.
Billy Williams drilled a three-run homer to account for all the Chicago runs and Bill Hands won his 20th game, beating the Pirates. It ended an 11-game losing streak for the Cubs in Pittsburgh.

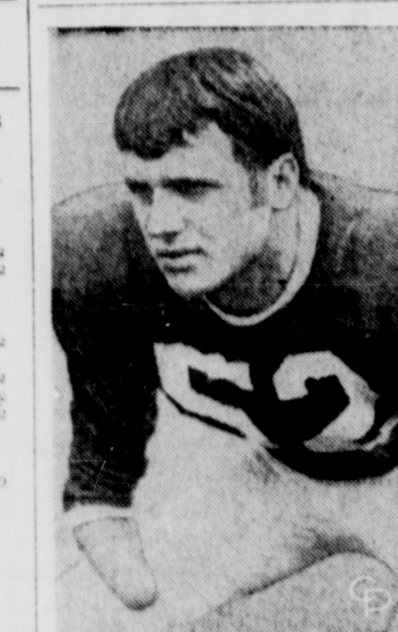

McLaren Team Clinches Can-Am Challenge Cup Title

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
Team McLaren clinched its third straight Canadian-American Challenge Cup title and streaking Richard Petty dealt himself back into the battle for stock car racing's biggest title during the weekend.
Bruce McLaren, chief of the New Zealand driving duo that includes ex-world champion Denis Hulme, won the eighth race in the $1 million series at Cambridge Junction, Mich., Sunday. Hulme came in second.
The only question now left to be answered in the remaining three events is which of the two will cop the $50,000 prize that goes to the series winner. The two have won all of the previous eight races and each now has 125 championship points.
Petty, stock car racing's all-time money and events winner, played catch-up for more than four hours Sunday before finally winning his third straight Old Dominion 250-miler at Martinsville, Va.

The 32-year-old Ford driver survived an early spinout that left him two laps in the rear, and battled back to snatch the lead from teammate David Pearson with only 17 miles remaining.
The victory cut sharply into the narrow lead Pearson holds over Petty in the battle for the lucrative NASCAR Grand National driving title.
McLaren and Hulme pocketed $12,000 and $9,000 respectively for their 1-2 finish in the Michigan Can-Am and together have won $160,000 in purse money this year.
McLaren's average speed was 108.098 miles per hour.
Dan Gurney, America's premier international road racer, drove a McLaren car to third place after his own Chevrolet-powered machine broke during practice. Jo Siffert of Switzerland was fourth in a Porsche.
Bob Tattersall of Streator, Ill., won the Hut 100 U.S. Auto Club midwest feature at Terre Haute, Ind. He led the entire 100 laps.

Battling Bengals Upset Chiefs, 24-19

By SHEILA MORAN
Coach Paul Brown of the amazing Cincinnati Bengals would not argue with success but he does question it.

"I don't know exactly what's doing it. It's a miracle," he said after his Bengals upset Kansas City 24-19 Sunday for their third straight victory and the Chiefs' first loss after six exhibition victories and two regular season triumphs.

In three games this year, all at home, the Bengals have equaled their winning record of last year when they joined the American Football League as a ragamuffin expansion team. They wound up in last place in the Western Division. Today, they're tied with Oakland for first.

As far as the Chiefs are concerned, however, the Bengals are for real.

"They played an outstanding game," said Chiefs' Coach Hank Stram.

"For us it was a game of missed opportunities."

Cincinnati pulled it off despite the second period injury of sensational rookie quarterback Greg Cook. Brown said later that Cook pulled a muscle in his right arm and will start against the Chargers at San Diego next Sunday.

Kansas City wasn't so lucky. Star quarterback Len Dawson was removed from the active list because of a knee injury and is expected to be out six weeks.

"I didn't want to take a chance with him if I didn't have to," Brown said in explaining why he didn't play Cook during the second half.

In other AFL games, San Diego, 1-2, surprised the world champion New York Jets, 1-2, 34-27; Buffalo, 1-2, routed Denver, 2-1, 41-28; Oakland, 3-0, upended Boston, 0-3, 38-23; and Houston, 2-1, drubbed Miami, 0-3, 22-10.

In the National League, Minnesota, upset Baltimore, 32-14; Green Bay beat San Francisco 14-7; Dallas defeated New Orleans 21-17; Detroit blanked the New York Giants 24-0; Los Angeles overpowered Atlanta 17-7; St. Louis nipped Chicago 20-17; Philadelphia mauled Pittsburgh 41-27; and Cleveland crunched Washington 27-23.

In his first start of the season, Sam Wyche, Cook's replacement, hit tight end Bob Trumpy with an 80-yard bomb in the opening seconds of the fourth period and gave the Bengals a 17-13 lead after a scoreless third quarter.

"Somebody had to step in and do the job," Brown said, "and Sambo did it."

The decisive Cincinnati touchdown was set up when Clem Turner recovered Noland Smith's fumble on a Bengals' punt on the Chiefs' 25. Six plays later, Jess Phillips scrambled in from the 10.

"The play that really killed us was that fumbled punt," Stram said.

Quarterback John Hadl threw for three of the Chargers' five touchdowns against the slumping Jets, who lost their second straight game. The New York ers almost made it a tie in the final two minutes but quarterback Joe Namath's pass to Bill Mathis was underthrown on a fourth down play on the Chargers' five.

Browns Edge Washington, Win By 4

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns are alone in first place in the National Football League's Century Division today with a 2-0 record because Gary Collins caught one pass Sunday against the Washington Redskins.

Collins' sole pass reception was a 15-yard touchdown toss from quarterback Bill Nelsen with just 1:19 left to play that gave the Browns a 27-23 win after the Redskins had rallied for 13 points in the fourth quarter for a 23-20 lead.

"The throw made it easy to catch," said Collins, who almost missed stepping on the end zone grass on his angling run. "Actually, I thought I was out of the end zone. It's hard to get excited when you don't do anything else all day."

Giants Still Barely Alive In NL West Race

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The body is still stirring ever so slightly, but San Francisco's last gasp could come at any time now.

Atlanta clinched a tie for the National League's West Division title Sunday, beating San Diego 4-2. Then the Braves waited around like vultures for the Giants to officially die in Los Angeles. But Juan Marichal beat the Dodgers 8-1, prolonging baseball's last divisional race at least until Tuesday.

The Braves need one more victory in their two remaining games against Cincinnati or one Giant loss in their last three against San Diego to clinch the crown.

When the end comes, the last place Padres will be remembered as the team that shaped the West Division race. Atlanta is in the midst of a nine-game winning streak and six of the victories have come against San Diego. When they weren't busy losing to the Braves over the last 10 days, the Padres took two out of three from the Giants.

Elsewhere in the National League Sunday, New York the East Division champions, won its eighth straight, beating Philadelphia 2-0. St. Louis blanked Montreal 2-0. Cincinnati stung Houston 4-1 and Chicago dropped Pittsburgh 3-1.

Hot-hitting Rico Carty led the Braves to the tie-clinching victory over the Padres. He smashed a two-run homer in the first inning and then doubled home another run in the eighth.

The hits raised Carty's batting average for the season to .343. He has batted .411 for the last 18 games. Marichal kept the Giants fading hopes alive with his 21st victory of the year. San Francisco broke the game open with a five-run sixth inning as Bill Singer failed for the fourth time to win his 20th game.

Willie McCovey brought Giant fans some small salvation by whacking his 46th homer of the year and taking over the National League lead from Hank Aaron. It is the only place the Braves trail the Giants today.

Three Met pitchers shared a four-hit shutout as New York's precocious young hurling staff extended its scoreless streak to four games and 42 consecutive innings. Gary Gentry worked the first five innings and was credited with his 13th victory while Nolan Ryan and Ron Taylor finished up.

Tony Perez tagged a two-run homer, leading the Reds past Houston. Three Cincinnati pitchers including Wayne Granger shared the four-hitter. Granger set a major league record with his 89th appearance of the year.

Bob Gibson won his 10th game, shutting out the Expos, and starting St. Louis' winning rally with a ninth inning single. After Gibson singled, Byron Browne tripled him home and then Joe Torre knocked in Browne with another hit.

Billy Williams drilled a three-run homer to account for all the Chicago runs and Bill Hands won his 20th game, beating the Pirates. It ended an 11-game losing streak for the Cubs in Pittsburgh.

Rockets Thump Marshall, OU Ties With Minnesota

By STEVE DRAKE
Associated Press Writer
Toledo's rambling tailback Tony Harris and Ohio University's touchdown twins — Cleve Bryant and Todd Snyder — unleashed their talents Saturday in preparation for their Mid American Conference encounter in Toledo this weekend.

Harris and Toledo's sophomore quarterback Chuck Ealey combined to lead the Rockets 38-13 thumping of ousted MAC member Marshall.

Harris, a 190-pound junior from Cleveland John Kennedy, scampered 66 yards early in the first period to spark the Rockets. Ealey logged the pigskin 15 times for 102 yards and was the game's leading rusher.

Toledo's great placekicker, Ken Crotts, upped his NCAA record of completed extra point kicks to 75. He also added a 27-yard field goal.

Ohio's Bryant and Snyder teamed for three touchdowns as the Bobcats tied Big Ten foe Minnesota 35-35. Bryant added another score as he plunged one yard in the first period.

The Bobcats' other TD came on a 4-yard scamper by Harvey Mitchell.

"We're down—we have a lot of pride," OU coach Bill Hell said after the game in Minneapolis. Most people think we came up here to play a good game. We came up here to win."

In the only MAC conference, injured quarterback Kent Thompson came off the bench to spark Miami to a close 24-20 victory over Western Michigan.

Thompson, who broke two fingers on his passing hand this summer, heaved one touchdown and ran for another. He got help from reserve fullback Tim Fortney. Fortney, who pounded Dayton last week, scored the other Redskin TD.

Kent State, led by bruising fullback Don Nottingham, smashed Xavier 23-7. Nottingham ripped out 186 yards in 39 carries. He had one touchdown. Quarterback Ted Bowersox heaved a 34-yard touchdown pass to Ken Mogish and added three extra-point boots in his total scoring.

Bowling Green turned four intercepted passes into touchdowns as the Falcons ripped hapless Dayton 27-7. It was Dayton's third straight loss this year—all to MAC teams. Big Jim Meeker was the leading rusher for the Falcons.

In other games: Eastern Michigan managed only one touchdown but it was enough to down Akron 10-3. Baldwin-Wallace, behind the passing of Mike Blake, ripped Central State 49-12.

Rich Henley scored three touchdowns as Ohio Wesleyan crushed DePaul 55-0.

Southern Illinois, led by quarterback Barclay Allen, crunched

Rams Edge Atlanta; Vikings Rout Colts

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Minnesota's Joe Kapp handed out passes all over the place—seven to the end zone but none to the Baltimore Colts' dressing room.

Kapp completed 28 of 43 passes for 449 yards and a record-equaling seven touchdowns Sunday as the Vikings routed Baltimore 52-14—and Colts Coach Don Shula asked writers not to interview his players after their second straight loss.

Kapp tied the National Football League record of seven touchdowns passes in a game held by Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears, Y. A. Tittle of the New York Giants and Adrian Burk of the Philadelphia Eagles. Only George Blanda, when he was with the Houston Oilers, has thrown as many as seven scoring passes in a game in the American Football League.

In other NFL action, Los Angeles, 2-0, stopped Atlanta, 1-1, 17-7; Green Bay, 2-0, held off San Francisco, 0-2, 14-7; Cleveland, 2-0, edged Washington 27-23; Dallas, 2-0, nipped New Orleans, 0-2, 21-17; Detroit, 1-1, drubbed the New York Giants,

1-1, 24-0; St. Louis, 1-1, topped Chicago 0-2, 20-17, and Philadelphia, 1-1, outlasted Pittsburgh, 1-1, 41-27.

The Vikings "took a chapter out of Baltimore's book—striking early and controlling the ball," said Minnesota Coach Bud Grant.

Kapp, who did not play in the Vikings' 24-23, season-opening upset loss to the Giants, hit on his first six passes against the Colts and brought Minnesota its first touchdown with an 8-yarder to Dave Osborn after the first two minutes of play.

His other scoring strikes were of 83 and 41 yards to Gene Washington and of 21, 13, 1 and 15 yards to four other receivers. Meanwhile, the Vikings defense harassed Baltimore quarterbacks Johnny Unitas and Earl Morrall. Unitas completed just two of his 13 passes and ended up eight for 22 for 68 yards with one interception.

Morrall was 12 of 20 for 127 yards and had two interceptions. "I'm ashamed of myself and I'm ashamed of my team," said Shula. "We were not ready to play when we hit the field."

Kapp said simply, "Our offensive line did a tremendous job."

Los Angeles, now two games ahead of arch-rival Baltimore and in first place in the Coastal Division, built a 17-0 halftime lead, then held off Atlanta. Larry Smith slammed one yard for the first Rams' touchdown and Roman Gabriel threw a four-yard pass for the other.

Herb Adderley's interception of a John Brodie pass on the Green Bay goal line saved the victory over San Francisco for the Packers, who scored on an 87-yard return of the second-half kickoff by rookie Dave Hampton and a Bart Starr-to-Jim Grabowski swing pass for two yards. The 49ers' score came on an 80-yard bomb from Brodie to Clifton McNeil.

McLaren Team Clinches Can-Am Challenge Cup Title

By BLOYS BRITT

AP Auto Racing Writer

Team McLaren clinched its third straight Canadian-American Challenge Cup title and streaking Richard Petty dealt himself back into the battle for stock car racing's biggest title during he weekend.

Bruce McLaren, chief of the New Zealand driving duo that includes ex-world champion Denis Hulme, won the eighth race in the $1 million series at Cambridge Junction, Mich., Sunday. Hulme came in second.

The only question now left to be answered in the remaining three events is which of the two will cop the $50,000 prize that goes to the series winner. The two have won all of the previous eight races and each now has 125 championship points.

Petty, stock car racing's all-time money and events winner, played catch-up for more than four hours Sunday before finally winning his third straight Old Dominion 250-mile at Martinsville, Va.

The 32-year-old Ford driver survived an early spinout that left him two laps in the rear, and battled back to snatch the lead from teammate David Pearson with only 17 miles remaining.

The victory cut sharply into the narrow lead Pearson holds over Petty in the battle for the lucrative NASCAR Grand National driving title.

McLaren and Hulme pocketed $12,000 and $9,000 respectively for their 1-2 finish in the Michigan Can-Am and together have won $160,000 in purse money this year.

McLaren's average speed was 108.098 miles per hour. Dan Gurney, America's premier international road racer, drove a McLaren car to third place after his own Chevrolet-powered machine broke during practice. Jo Siffert of Switzerland was fourth in a Porsche.

Bob Tattersall of Streator, Ill., won the Hut 100 U.S. Auto Club midget feature at Terre Haute, Ind. He led the entire 100 laps.

Reds Defeat Houston, But Out Of Race

CINCINNATI (AP) — Reds right-fielder Pete Rose went 0 for 3 Sunday but managed to hold onto the top batting average in the National League as the Reds defeated the Houston Astros 4-1.

Rose, batting .347 remained first in the running for the batting crown. But Roberto Clemente went 2 for 4 despite Pittsburgh's 3-1 loss to Chicago giving him an average of .341 for second place. Cleon Jones, of the New York Mets, who led most of the season is batting .340.

Two pitching records were set in the contest, the last home game of the Reds for 1969.

Reds reliever Wayne Granger made his 89th appearance and gained his 26th save. The appearance set a record for all of baseball beating Wilbur Wood's 88 performances last year for the Chicago White Sox.

"But it's anticlimactic," said Granger, after losing the pennant. "I would be much happier if we were still in the race." The Reds were mathematically eliminated by Houston Saturday.

Houston pitcher Tom Griffin struck out nine Reds and the Astros broke the major league mark for strikeouts by team pitchers.

The record was held by the 1967 Cleveland Indians, who had 1189 strikeouts for the year. The Houston staff has 1198.

The Reds journey to Atlanta for the last two games of the season against the Braves. Red manager Dave Brisk said "We're trying to win in every game remaining on our schedule."

OSU Buckeyes Win 15th, Blitz TCU, 62-0

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON Associated Press Sports Writer

This is college football's 101st season and it's got something none of the previous 100 had—the No. 1 team of all time, according to Fred Taylor.

That would be the mighty Buckeyes of Ohio State, who opened their 1969 campaign Saturday with an imposing 62-0 blitz of Taylor's Texas Christian team.

Taylor doesn't quite go back to 1869, but he's been around long enough—17 years on the TCU staff—to qualify as an expert.

"We played Michigan State when they were No. 1," Taylor said. "We played Penn State when they had Lenny Moore and Miami when they were rated real high. We played Southern Cal and UCLA and Iowa when they were on top and Oklahoma and Louisiana State in their best years. We've played them all and I haven't seen anybody this good."

How good?

"They've not only got a great offense and a great defense, but they've got great depth, too," Taylor went on. "They used about 70 players against us and there was very little difference when they put one group in for another. They have five or six good running backs and three good quarterbacks."

"We played badly, but it wouldn't have made any difference. If we'd played our best and they played the way they did Saturday, they'd have beaten us by 35 or 40 points. They were just unbelievable. Their offensive line knocked our kids back four or five yards and when we tackled them they'd drag us three or four yards."

"No college team can rank with Ohio State as far as talent. I thought Purdue, which beat us 42-35 the week before, was a fine football team, but I don't feel Purdue is as strong as Ohio State. If they have the incentive to play from week to week like they did against us, no one will beat them this year. And I think they have enough incentive."

John Brockington scored three touchdowns and Jim Otis and Rex Kern two each as the Buckeyes put on a 565-yard offensive display and extended the nation's longest major college winning streak to 15 games.

Ohio State's six closest challengers in The Associated Press poll all posted easy victories.

Second-ranked Penn State, minus star halfback Charlie Pittman, trounced Colorado 27-3 as safetyman Neal Smith tied a school record with his 11th and 12th career interceptions.

Arkansas, ranked third, walloped Tulsa 55-0, combining a potent offense and rugged defense. Texas, No. 4, avenged two straight losses to Texas Tech and battered the Red Raiders 49-7.

Sixth-rated Oklahoma hammered Pitt 37-8 as Steve Owens gained 104 yards and scored three times. And seventh-ranked Georgia, behind the passing of Mike Cavan, blanked Clemson 30-0.

The rest of the Top Ten all stumbled. Eighth-ranked Mississippi bowed to Kentucky 10-9 as the Wildcats, who yielded 58 points a week earlier gave defensive-minded John Ray his first triumph as head coach.

No. 9 Notre Dame lost to Purdue 28-14 as quarterback Mike Phipps rattled the Irish secondary for 213 yards. California, down 14-0 in the first period, upset 10th-ranked Indiana 17-14 on a final-quarter 61-yard touchdown pass by sub quarterback Steve Curtis.

Two members of the Second

Ten also tasted defeat. Auburn, No. 17, quickly fell behind Tennessee, No. 19, and suffered a 45-19 drubbing. And Oregon State surprised 18th-ranked Arizona State 30-7.

Missouri, rated 11th, thumped Illinois 37-6 behind Joe Moore's running. Florida, No. 12, outlasted Mississippi State 47-35 as super soph John Reaves fired three scoring passes; No. 13 Michigan State, stung for 244 passing yards by Southern Methodist's Chuck Hixson, still beat the Mustangs 23-15.

UCLA's pass-run combination of Dennis Dummit and Greg Jones sparked the 14th-ranked Bruins over Wisconsin 34-23 and Alabama, No. 15, crushed Southern Mississippi 63-14.

Michigan, No. 20, mauled Washington 45-7 as Don Moorhead scored three touchdowns and passed for another.

Washington only has to contend with Ohio State this Saturday. Lots o' luck, Washington.

"I was going across the middle, but (Pat) Fischer pushed me. Against Fischer, you just have to wait until he shoves you, then ad lib."

Nelsen, who was given a game ball along with substitute halfback Reece Morrison, said, "We hadn't been throwing to Collins because Fischer was all over him."

"The key play was the pass to Morrison," Nelsen said in reviewing the winning drive. "I had to throw it low and away and he came up with it." The pass, following a 10-yard run by Morrison, went for 18 yards to the 15-yard line and Collins scored on the next play.

She laughed when you said the filet mignons came with the range.

So you explained about how your favorite appliance store is giving away a stack of eight beautiful filet mignons with the purchase of any new gas self-cleaning range. You wanted a new gas self-cleaning range anyhow . . . with all those fancy automatic cooking conveniences. Sure, you could have let it go for awhile longer, but . . . eight filet mignons! That's the kind of a deal you can sink your teeth into—when you buy any of these self-cleaning ranges: Caloric, Hardwick, Magic Chef, Sunray and Tappan.

PAGE FROM THE PAST—College football's observance of its 100th anniversary of the first intercollegiate game, Princeton at Rutgers, will be marked with special fanfare Saturday, Sept. 27, at Rutgers stadium at New Brunswick, N.J., as the two schools meet for the 60th time. Actually the first "match" was played on Nov. 6, 1869, with Rutgers winning, 6 goals to 4. College football has come a long way since and many of its heroes, including the four all-time All-American backfield stars shown, Red Grange, Jim Thorpe, Bronko Nagurski and Sammy Baugh, have gone on to pro and business fame. The first game painting is by Utah artist Arnold Friberg, commissioned by Chevrolet. The bronze medal is by Utah sculptor Justin Fairbanks. Princeton has won 50 of the games played, Rutgers has only taken nine.

Cook, former University of Cincinnati ace and a standout in the All-Star game, threw for five touchdowns in the Bengals' first two games, as many as the team's top passer threw during the entire 1968 season.

Stevenson
May Seek
Senate Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bearer of one of the most prominent names in recent Democratic history, Adlai E. Stevenson III, has decided to seek the Illinois Senate seat of the late Everett M. Dirksen, authoritative sources say.

But he may face a primary challenge in March from a Chicago congressman.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, 50, is considering a bid next year for the seat now occupied by Sen. Ralph T. Smith, the Republican named to succeed Dirksen.

Stevenson—the 38-year-old state treasurer who is the son of the former governor and two-time Democratic presidential nominee—is expected to declare himself a candidate in November.

If Pucinski decides to challenge him, it could set up only the second contested statewide Democratic primary in some 35 years, according to Illinois political observers.

Pucinski's office, meanwhile, reports heavy mail from both Chicago and downstate urging the congressman to run. There had previously been rumors he would run against Republican Sen. Charles H. Percy in 1972.

Smith, speaker of the Illinois House until his appointment by Gov. Richard Ogilvie, also faces a possible primary fight. But one of his strongest potential opponents—Rep. John Anderson of Rockford—says he will support Smith for the last four years of Dirksen's term rather than split the party.

Postpone Strike
Against Railroad

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A strike by about 700 employees of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad was postponed late Sunday night when the company and the union agreed to meet today with representative of the National Mediation Board.

John Czuczman, president of local 1427 of the Transport Workers union said if the strike were called it would shutdown all the railroad's operations, including shops in suburban McKees Rocks and in Youngstown, Ohio.

Meanwhile about 2,800 workers have been idled by a United Steelworkers strike against the Union Railroad, which serves eight U.S. Steel plants in the Monongahela Valley.

Stokes In Fight For Political Life Against Robert Kelly

CLEVELAND (AP) — Black and white sat cramped together inside the Ukrainian National Home on Cleveland's heavily white West Side and smiled up at the stage.

There smiling back, flanked by white politicians, sat Carl B. Stokes, the first Negro elected mayor of a major U.S. city.

Stokes was in the midst of his campaign for re-election—a drive that faces its first hurdle Tuesday when he meets Robert J. Kelly in the Democratic primary.

And despite the smiles, the mayor's white campaign workers and the posters with their black and white lettering, racial harmony has yet to descend on Cleveland where Stokes is in what could prove the fight of his political life.

In Cleveland, as it was earlier this year in Minneapolis and Los Angeles, the issue is law and order.

Stokes' white challenger says Cleveland "has become a jungle."

Crime in the city shot up 56 per cent during the first six months of the year, according to statistics supplied the FBI by Cleveland police. The rate for violent crimes jumped 63 per cent.

The situation is so desperate, Kelly declared as he began his campaign, that he would call in the National Guard to battle crime as his first official act.

Kelly, a former city traffic engineer who claims he has the support of 95 per cent of the city's more than 2,000 policemen, has gotten little attention from Stokes.
